

Arborio Is Low Bidder On Section $3,832,242 Is Cost For 28 to 209 Link

John Arborio, Inc., the Poughkeepsie contractor now building the northern end of the Route 209 by-pass, bid low in Albany today at $3,832,242.53 for construction of the section between Routes 28 and 209.

The bid for building the 5.4 miles of the artery was one of five opened this morning in the office of the state public works department. Bids were opened on 32 other road and bridge projects at a total cost of more than $34,000,000.

Other Bidders

Next lowest bid, $4,212,871.50 was by Johnson Drake Piper, Inc., of New York. A bid of $4,263,374.25 was submitted jointly by the Rusclana Construction Corp., and the Delbello Construction Corp., Pelham Manor. The Grandview Construction Corp., of Mt. Vernon, bid $4,476,584, and S. J. Groves & Sons Co., Syracuse, bid $4,546,274.10.

$727,757 Under Estimate

Arborio's bid was $727,757.57 under the state's estimated cost of $4,560,000 for the project. The contractor's bid for the section now being built was some $2,000,000 under the state's estimated cost of $8,086,000.

The section of nearly five and a half miles between Routes 28 and 209 involves the building of 1.73 miles of access roads. It will be graded for four lanes, but only a two-lane strip 24 feet wide will be built under the next contract. The section between routes 28 and 9W, now being built will have four lanes of travel.

A section of Route 28 at its interchange pattern will be relocated. The next section of the route to be built will connect with Route 209 at a point near the boundary line between the towns of Hurley and Marbletown.

Will Be 10 Miles Long

The entire bypass when finished will be nearly 10 miles long. It will span the Thruway, Route 28, several minor roads, the Esopus Creek, New York Central Railroad and will connect with 9W near the western approach road of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

The four-lane section now being built at a cost of $6,019,320.85, is 4.33 miles long and involves considerable access road construction. It also involves extensive grading and moving of mounds of earth west and north of the city.

July 1, 1962, has been set as the date of completion for the first project. No finishing date was mentioned in today's report on the bidding for the next section.

Schools Closing Until April 10 For Easter Break

Hurley Water Co. Allowed Increase, Starts April 1

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A water company in Orange County and one in Ulster County have been granted rate increases.

But the Public Service Commission Tuesday denied the New Windsor Water Works Corp. a rate increase for customers in a development near New Windsor, Orange County.

Granted increases were: The Suburban Water Co., which serves 81 customers in a development at Newburgh. The Hurley Water Co., which serves 359 customers in and near Hurley, Ulster County.

Suburban was given permission to raise rates by 30 cents per 1,000 gallons, beginning April 1. The minimum quarterly charge will be increased from $8.10 to $10.80 and will cover the first 9,000 gallons used.

The company said the increase would result in about $2,000 in additional annual revenue. It said it had lost money for the last three years. Hurley's rates for metered customers will go from $5.85 to $6.39 for the first 9,000 gallons each quarter, and from 50 cents to 54 cents for each 1,000 gallons above the minimum.

Its flat rate for non-metered service will be reset at $9 a quarter, from a range of $5.85 to $7.50. Annual charge for fire-protection also will be raised, from $23.40 to $30 a hydrant.

Hurley's increase totals $1,500 a year.

Bill Killing Youth Court Act Is Signed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The controversial Youth Court Act, passed in 1956 and postponed each year since, met death today.

Gov. Rockefeller's office announced he had signed a bill passed by the Legislature repealing the act, which would have required counties to set up special courts for handling criminal cases involving youths under 21.

Opponents of the act objected to administrative and fiscal problems posed by the act and its provisions of secrecy for criminals 16 through 21.

Rockefeller noted that a proposed constitutional amendment to reorganize the state's court system included establishment of a "family court" system. He recommended that a legislative committee consider the entire problem of handling youth cases within such a system.

Will Be on Ballot

The proposed amendment will be on the statewide ballot next November.

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who has been working for repeal of the Youth Court Act, hailed today's action as "a triumph for common sense and informed public opinion."

"It is largely due to the unremitting efforts of the newspaper editors, who kept this situation before the public, that the long campaign for repeal culminated successfully," Wilson said in a statement.

In Other Developments:

Medical Care — Rockefeller signed legislation providing financial assistance to an estimated 92,000 New Yorkers over 65 who are not receiving welfare but who are unable to meet their medical expenses. The legislation brings New York under the federal medicare plan passed by the last session of Congress. At present, only the elderly who are on relief get public assistance with medical bills. The new program goes into effect April 1.

Highways — Rockefeller's office declined to comment on President Kennedy's assertion that New York could move faster on road-building if it wishes. The Democratic President's statement followed the Republican governor's claims that he had ordered an acceleration of public-works projects to combat the effects of the recession. Rockefeller had asked Kennedy to make more federal funds available so that more work could be undertaken. But Kennedy replied that, under the federal highway act, New York could move faster if it chose by using its own funds and collecting later from the federal government.

Housing — The governor announced that the New York State Housing and Finance Agency had agreed to set aside $50 million in loan funds for non-profit and limited-profit construction of housing for the aged. The agency would make low-interest loans to organizations interested in building low-rent apartments.

In signing the Youth Court Act repealer, Rockefeller said the State Judicial Conference, administrative body of the state's court system, had given "authoritative expression" to the objections posed against the act.

The conference urged the Legislature last January to make a "fresh start" in dealing with youth crime. It recommended that a youth section be created in all lower courts in the state to speedily dispose of youth cases and to emphasize correction and rehabilitation. None of the proceedings would be secret.

A bill embracing this recommendation was introduced in the Legislature for study purposes only.

Rioting Stops, But Resorts Say Curbs Hurting Business

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Vacationing collegians stopped rioting, but ocean-front resort owners fumed today that restrictions on them also was stifling business.

City authorities—thankful for a breather in mob action—contemplated asking Gov. Farris Bryant to help turn back some of the Eastern vacation student crowd still to arrive. Mayor Edward Johns said the City Commission may ask Bryant to have Florida State University and University of Florida officials urge their students to stay away from Fort Lauderdale when classes break Thursday.

A five-block outdoor dance, organized with city help, kept perhaps one-tenth of the 25,000 collegians here occupied Tuesday night.

Even so, police collared 150 for public drinking or disorderly behavior. They will have their day in two simultaneous sessions of municipal court, already clogged with cases from Sunday and Monday.

No crowd disorders occurred Tuesday night. Police kept everyone moving on the hotel and night club-studded beach strip and screened everyone traveling there from downtown.

The ocean-front area presented a strange sight of thousands of college boys and girls sauntering up and down the pavement, barred from the darkened beach itself and unable or unwilling to patronize the luxury resorts that line it.

Police used nightsticks and loud speakers to prod along any strollers who wouldn't move on.

"Keep moving and keep your mouth shut," blared over one police horn.

Sheriff Alan Michel's ribs were jabbed by a nightstick when the sheriff, in plainclothes, stopped to talk with a newsman and was not recognized by a patrolman.

Mayor Johns said Tuesday night's activities appeared to be successful in preventing disorders.

Missile Defense Unlikely for 5 Years Under Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's decision not to ask funds to start limited production of the Nike Zeus apparently means the United States will be without an anti-missile defense for at least five more years.

However, there's still a chance that congressional supporters of the Nike Zeus may get some production money into the defense appropriations bill this year.

The anti-missile has some strong roots in Capitol Hill. One of them, Sen. Strom Thurmond, S.C., said, "We have already lost too much valuable lead time over the Communists in development and production of this important weapons system."

Omission of any Nike Zeus production funds from the revised defense budget Kennedy sent to Congress Tuesday came as a shock to the Army. Some of its officials had hoped to get about $100 million to start turning out long lead items, mostly radar and computer parts.

Kennedy said nothing at all about the Nike Zeus, but a high administration official said the anti-missile system has not advanced to the point where it can be said with assurance that it should be put into production.

This was the position maintained by the Eisenhower administration and Dr. Herbert F. York, Pentagon director of research and engineering under that administration. Although York is being replaced, his views apparently carry weight with the Kennedy administration, too.

Army officials felt things were going their way when the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the first time, recommended this year a start on limited production.

$250 Million May Stay — Under the Eisenhower administration's farewell military budget — the one Kennedy revised — the Nike Zeus was down for about $250 million more to complete its test program. Since Kennedy didn't mention this item, Army officials are assuming it stands — and they take some comfort from this.

So far, since 1957, the Army has spent about $750 million on research and development of the Nike Zeus, the only U. S. anti-missile missile system beyond the drawing board stage.

Army officials estimate it would cost about $9 billion to install enough Nike Zeus launching complexes to protect key strategic bases and centers of industry and population.

Unless the Kennedy administration undergoes a change of heart, the Army will have to wait at least another year before any production money is included in the next regular budget — and there is no assurance it will be then.

Since the Army claims it could deploy some Nike Zeus batteries four years after a go-ahead on long lead production, this means a wait of at least five years — until 1966 at the earliest — before a defense against Soviet missiles would be in place.

New Flood Plan for Rosendale Army Engineers Figure on Million

A new proposed million-dollar flood control plan for the Town of Rosendale, was made public today, by the Rosendale Area Flood Control Committee.

The new detailed plans were related to the committee by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, last Thursday, at a special meeting in New York City.

Attending the session with the Army Engineers were Supervisor George Mollenhauer, Ferdinand Feidler, chairman of the Board of Assessors of the Town of Rosendale; Bernhardt S. Kramer, field representative for Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, and William P. Curran, attorney for the committee and justice of the peace of the Town of Rosendale.

Plan Going to Washington

The Army Engineers reported that both the new plan as well as the plan previously made known, would be submitted to higher authority in Washington, within about one month, but that the Army Engineers would in all probability, recommend to Washington the new and latest project plan.

The Flood Control Committee reported that the new proposed plan corresponded more closely with the wishes, opinions and desires of the citizens of the village and Town of Rosendale, who made their opinions known to the members of the committee at a hearing and privately.

The Army Engineers considered the new plan more "socially acceptable" in that the people of the community would be more receptive to the plan since there would be little taking of real property and homes, and little change in the overall scenery of the community, Attorney Curran said.

What Plan Includes

The new plan, as explained to the Flood Committee by the Army Engineers was substantially as follows:

Most of the work would be done downstream from the Route 32 Bridge, with the old canal being removed, and the gorge above LeFevre Fall widened and deepened. The north channel around the island below the bridge would be eliminated and filled in, and the south channel around the island widened, straightened, and deepened. This will eliminate the danger of ice accumulating at the upstream tip of the island. Route 213 (Main Street) in (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

25-Year Loan Asked To Improve Homes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed government insurance of 25-year home improvement loans as a new way of rebuilding rundown neighborhoods without federal handouts.

This was the surprise item in a $3.2-billion housing bill which Kennedy sent to Congress.

Also called for were step-ups in low-cost public housing, urban renewal and housing for the elderly, plus experimental 40-year, non-downpayment FHA mortgages for families of moderate income.

6 PC Interest Rate

Most of the items were spelled out in Kennedy's special housing message to Congress on March 9. However, only a vague hint was given them of the far-reaching character of the improvement loan proposal.

The 25-year loan would carry a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent and could total up to $10,000 per family living unit. Present improvement loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration run for only five years, carry a rate of 9.1 per cent and are subject to $5,000 ceiling.

Improvement funds could be advanced in the form of first or second mortgages or other types of loans and would be available in

Albany and Desco Plead Innocent In Numbers Case

A 33-year-old Catskill sporting goods store proprietor and a 54-year-old Catskill man today were arraigned before Catskill Police Justice James J. Battisti Jr., on charges of violating the gambling laws.

Anthony James Albany, of 10 Van Deusen Street, this city, pleaded innocent to a charge of operating a policy business. He waived preliminary hearing and Judge Battisti referred the case to the Greene County grand jury.

Albany, who was represented by Catskill Attorney Charles G. Coffin, later was released in bail of $1,000 by Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon.

Veteran Theatre Manager Favors One for Shoppers

Robert W. Case, former Kingston theatre manager, it was learned today is "definitely interested" in the possible operation of a theatre in the proposed shopping center to be erected on the Krause property on Albany Avenue Extension.

There have been reports of the possible inclusion of a theatre in the development.

Case, operator of a large 1,000-car drive-in at Ballston Spa, today said he would be interested in the proposition, although he said he had no definite knowledge that there was presently any plan to include a theatre in the shopping center.

Pointing out the large number of residents in the area, the closeness to Kingston and other advantages of the location, Case said he might be interested in either an indoor or a drive-in theatre at the Krause shopping center if suitable arrangements could be made.

Alliance Sidetracks Hard View Compromise Seen As U. S. Defeat

By JOHN RODERICK

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Apparently swayed by anticipations of Soviet peace moves, the SEATO foreign ministers today adopted a compromise resolution that failed to spell out what the alliance will do if the Communists continue their military drive in Laos.

Unanimous Agreement

The eight-nation council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization unanimously declared that if the British proposal for a cease-fire and peace negotiations fails "and there continues to be an active (Communist) military attempt to obtain control of Laos, members of SEATO are prepared, within the terms of the treaty, to take whatever action may be appropriate in the circumstances."

The resolution appeared to represent a defeat for the American effort to put over a tough declaration that would warn the Soviet Union that SEATO troops would fight if peace negotiations fail.

French Opposed Toughness

The compromise apparently resulted from the sharp opposition of French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, who argued in the closed sessions that the proposed American draft would antagonize the Soviets while there was a prospect they would accept the Western proposals for a cease-fire in Laos. Couve de Murville told newsmen he was "very pleased" with the resolution.

Although a U.S. spokesman said "we consider it a strong resolution," U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a subsequent news conference did nothing to dispel the prevalent belief that the American delegation was disappointed.

Will Meet Threats: Rusk

Rusk said that Southeast Asia is threatened and "we shall meet these threats." He said "the resolution is unanimous and this means all members." But he refused to answer all questions about the possibility or likelihood of SEATO military action in Laos, saying, "I don't think it is wise or prudent to get into questions like those at this stage."

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand told his news conference that SEATO is waiting for the Soviet reply to the cease-fire proposal and that no action of any sort will be considered until the reply is received and studied.

Weatherman Mum On Easter Sunday

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Weather Bureau today predicted showers for Easter Monday in New York State but declined to speculate about Easter Sunday. In fact, the bureau's long-range forecast said "showers about Monday." The bureau plans to make its Easter forecast Friday. High temperatures through Monday are expected to be generally in the 40s.

Group to Pick 2 Candidates, Mansfield, Singer Go on Own

Interest in the approaching election of two members of the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) is mounting with the announcement of the candidacy of Howard F. Mansfield, II, of Tillson, and the meeting tonight of the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee which will elect two candidates from among the eight who have presented themselves before that group.

The candidacy of Bernie Singer, of 95 Washington Avenue, a North Front Street businessman, was announced March 15.

The Nonpartisan Nominating Committee will meet at 8 p. m. today at the George Washington School at which time it will discuss the qualifications of the six men and two women who have appeared before it and ballot secretly until two have been chosen.

Any resident of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) who obtains 100 signatures on a petition may offer as a candidate. The terms of Robert Herzog, president, and Robert O'Reilly, vice-president, expire in May.

Mansfield, an unsuccessful candidate for the board in the first election held in the spring of 1959, announced that he is offering as an independent candidate because he believes there is a "definite need for a clearer understanding on the part of the board of education of its responsibilities to all of those who comprise the community it is supposed to represent.

"To many of my neighbors and friends, my convictions are well known. To others I would say now simply that I believe in a system of tax-supported public schools, a child's right to all the education he can absorb, the teacher's right to disciplinary authority over and respect from these children, and the sovereign right of the parents and taxpayers to determine the philosophy and cost of the education so provided.

"I shall be pleased to elaborate upon any and all of these points at the appropriate times and places during the ensuing weeks. I seek this post on our school board free and independent of any pressure group and beholden to none but my conscience and the electorate."

April 12 Last to File — The last day for filing nominating petitions is Wednesday, April 12. The election will be held Tuesday, May 2.

Residents of the school district who were registered for the last general election are eligible to vote.

The board of education has arranged for the registration of all qualified voters of the district who personally present themselves for registration. They are qualified if they:

1. Did not register for the preceding general election.

2. Did register for the pre-

Greatest Support for Neutral Prince

Laotians Viewed as Indifferent To East-West Struggle in Land

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—What do the Laotians themselves think about the power struggle between those two far-away giants, the United States and Russia, over their tiny land?

For a lot of them, not much. Report after report from there tells of great indifference to the civil war between the Russian-backed rebels in the north and the American-supported right-wing government in the south.

The greatest popular support is for neither side but for Prince

Souvanna Phouma. He's neutral. To a lot of Laotians, therefore, the United States and Russia must look like a couple of busybodies. Yet the Laotians have to depend on someone. The country earns only a fraction of its expenses.

In 1960 its exports totaled $16 million while its national deficit was $33 million, about 20 times its export figure. Since 1954 this country put $310 million into Laos, most of it for the military forces.

Yet The Associated Press reports even the combatants are devout Buddhists who don't like to kill and have to be coaxed into fighting by their big-power backers.

Many Split Into Tribes

The Laotians don't even think as a nation. Many of them are split into tribes. One official said to most Laotians the civil war is just another family fight.

Yet Russia wants the Communist-led rebels to win. A Red Laos would be a foothold for a takeover in the rest of Southeast Asia. For that reason the United States is determined to block them.

So the Laotians are caught in the middle.

If there is peace in Laos—and if the country is divided, as it probably will be, since the Reds don't usually yield any ground—both sides will have to work to win support.

Since both the West and communism will propagandize the people in their area, in due time maybe the Laotians on both sides will learn to get angry enough at each other to fight in earnest. All this sounds a little reminiscent—although the cases are not identical—of Indochina, half of which the French lost to communism in 1954.

The French had held all of Viet Nam from back in the 19th century. Being colonial-minded, they didn't train the Vietnamese for independence. Eventually, the Communists in the north revolted. From 1946 to 1954 the French fought them. But the French were so dainty they didn't send any draftees to Viet Nam, just volunteers. One thing was sure: They weren't getting many volunteers from among the Vietnamese who simply wanted the French out. If they volunteered it was usually with the Communist-led rebels in the north.

Eventually the French had to give up the northern half. Now, seven years later, the Communists are on the move again, sending their guerrillas into South Viet Nam.

If Laos is split in half the time will probably come when the Reds from the north put the heat on their southern brothers and there'll be a crisis of some kind all over again.

ACLU Is Backing Orange Woman in Contest With N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) is backing Mrs. Madeline C. Schroeder of Cuddebackville, N.Y., near Middletown, in her contest with New York City.

She is suing to prevent the city from continuing to divert water of the Neversink River from her land.

The ACLU filed a friend-of-the-court brief Tuesday in the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

The brief said property owners whose land will be involved in a governmental action have a legal right to receive adequate advance notice.

The ACLU also said that "the considerations of due process require at least the mailing of notice to each riparian owner affected" by a proceeding.

The city announced its intention to acquire the right to divert the water in 1952. The announcement was by publication and posting notices. The notices did not refer to Mrs. Schroeder or her property except by plot number references to land maps.

Fall From Doll House Kills Girl

CHILI, N.Y. (AP)—Donna Marie Meister, 8, was injured fatally Tuesday when she apparently fell while climbing a doll house in the yard of her home in this Monroe County community.

Deputy sheriffs said the child apparently struck her head on some rocks when she slipped while climbing the 9-foot doll house. She was the youngest of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Meister.

Court Studies Plea Job Protection Sought as Result Of Rail Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court is studying a plea by railway labor for better job protection for union members affected by the merger of the Erie and Lackawanna Railroads.

The Erie-Lackawanna and Solicitor General Archibald Cox supported the Interstate Commerce Commission in opposing arguments Tuesday before the court.

William J. Mahoney, representing the Railway Labor Executives Association, said his group is seeking a comparable job at comparable pay for each affected railroad employee, rather than a job freeze. The association claims last year's merger will eliminate 1,982 jobs and result in the transfer of 2,159 others.

The jobs have been frozen, pending outcome of the case. The association appealed to the Supreme Court after a federal court panel in Detroit rejected railway labor's demands.

Cox contended labor's demands would force management to provide jobs for unemployed employees. The court took the case under advisement after hearing two hours of arguments.

FRENCH BOTANIST: Our typically Southern flower, the Magnolia, was named after a French botanist, Pierre Magnol, (1633-1715) who did work in classifying it. There are today 35 different species of magnolias. The majority grow in Louisiana and Mississippi (The Magnolia State).

$12,000 Boost Is Authorized for Syracuse Fares

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Syracuse and Oswego Motor Lines Inc. of Syracuse will increase its rates Friday by a total of $12,000 a year.

The Public Service Commission authorized the company Tuesday to increase most one-way fares by 3 to 15 cents, based on distance. Present rates range from 15 cents to $1.32. Proportionate increases were approved in round-trip and multiple-ride fares.

The line operates between Syracuse, Baldwinsville and Oswego, and between Syracuse and Brewerton.

The company estimated that its operating expenses in the year ending March 31, 1962, would be more than $22,763 above its 1960 expenses.

Jury Indicts 5 For Forgery Try Of Stolen Bonds

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted five men on charges of conspiring to forge and cash stolen savings bonds. A federal prosecutor said they handled more than $1 million in bonds stolen in New York City and seven Upstate communities. The indictment handed up Tuesday named Alfred Sanantonio, 38, of Brooklyn; Edward C. Coppola, 32, of Queens; Anthony J. Donatiello, 43, of Belleville, N. J.; Herbert Levine, 43, of Colonia, N. J.; and Meyer Parks, 42, of North Arlington, N. J.

Sanantonio and Coppola pleaded innocent before Judge Lloyd F. MacMahon who held them in $50,000 bail each. Asst. U. S. atty. Gerald Walpin described them as "suppliers" of the stolen bonds. Levine and Parks already were in custody on an earlier indictment charging them with forging and cashing a $1,000 bond.

Donatiello was arrested in New Jersey and held in $100,000 bail for appearance here.

Walpin said the bond thefts occurred in Yonkers, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Suffern, Washingtonville, Tuxedo and Greenwood Lake, N. Y., as well as New York City.

GUESTS FROM ABROAD

In addition to all its other varied activities, the Department of State arranges guided tours of the United States for leading citizens of other nations. Such visitors see America at work in field and factory. They are given a chance to watch our institutions of government in operation. And they also visit Americans at home. There is reason to believe that in some ways these visits have a deeper and more lasting favorable impact than anything else experienced in the United States.

One recent group of visitors included women from places as far apart as Indonesia, Turkey, the Philippines and Paraguay. In one city they met the mayor, were entertained at teas and receptions, and heard lectures on social welfare. But they seemed agreed that what they most appreciated was a quiet Sunday spent as guests in private homes. They attended church and, after an American "Sunday dinner," spent the afternoon with the family.

Their reaction suggested once again that there needs to be much more of this sort of thing if progress is to be made in better understanding among peoples. There should be more such meetings on a basis of equality, regardless of creed or color and without patronage or prejudice, not at a conference table but seated in an American living room—or, if the process were reversed, in a tree-shaded courtyard in the Middle East.

One housewife says that after a woman's been married for 30 years she should be able to throw everything out and start over. Including husbands?

EVEN THE MOUNTAINS

Mountains have always stood for permanence, grandeur and tranquility—unchanging, timeless, awe-inspiring. Now it appears that even mountains may be added, along with some of our forest preserves, to the growing list of "expendables." The proposal to create a new harbor in Alaska by blowing out a section of the coast with a nuclear bomb shows that talk of "moving mountains" with atomic energy may not be so far-fetched after all.

Conservationists have been fighting to preserve the last remnants of our forests from the invasions of "civilization." The sad fact is that the national parks and other remaining natural recreation areas are inadequate to accommodate the steadily increasing numbers of tourists.

A few wilderness regions such as the Quetico-Superior national forest in Northern Minnesota can still provide miles of quiet water where there are canoe portages from lake to lake. If airplanes and highways are kept out, preserves such as this can offer a haven from the crowds.

But there are not many of these wilderness spots left in America. The "forest primeval" which only two centuries ago stretched vast and almost unexplored across the continent is no more. And now, even the mountains may not be safe.

OFF TO THE CIRCUS

That Michigan professor who is quitting the faculty to be a circus clown revives an old nostalgia. It reminds us of a colleague of years ago who, after a year as a cub reporter at $15 a week, made up his mind to go west and be a cowpoke. To his horror he learned that cowpokes made only $40 a month. So he had to put it off. He kept on putting it off until now it is too late.

Why doesn't some modern messiah come up with a plan to make all jobs pay the same—farmer, traffic cop, engineer, banker, everything? What an emancipation! A youngster could choose a life-calling not by the size of the paycheck but on the basis of what he most wanted to do or be.

Of course this is just a dream. But that Michigan professor seems to know something about how to make it come true.

"Outside Experts Run Many Farms," says a headline. And a lot of these "experts" are in Congress.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WAR

I was recently in conversation with young people and found that war was a very dirty word. This was not so true in 1913 when university campuses were stirred by the prospects of war. Even then, there were those who believed in the pacifistic ideals of the Carnegie Peace Foundation and the Collegiate Anti-Militarism League. And then came the Ford Peace Ship with its unbelievable absurdities and finally the war to make the world safe for democracy. There was no doubt that the Kaiser would be hung on Times Square and that Woodrow Wilson was the greatest man in history. Young people went to war, singing "Over There," and Sousa's Marine Corps Band of 400 or whatever instrumentalists stirred the land to patriotism.

Nothing so exciting happened in World War II although the movies tried hard to make war popular and everybody was instructed to hate Hitler. But our people could not fall in love with Stalin or the coterie of unusual personalities that showed up in the government. It was very difficult to believe that Harry Hopkins was a great statesman. When the United States lost World War II to Soviet Russia after making huge sacrifices in life and wealth, doubt spread as to whether anything really valuable is gained by war.

Then came the Korean War which the United States lost to Red China, a country which only a few years before had no reputable military force. The United States lost that war because its military strategy had to conform to United Nations political concepts. Thus Americans were killed in a war in which victory was impossible because the proper place to fight the war was Manchuria and that was a sanctuary for the Red Chinese. From a military standpoint, the Korean War was madness; from a political standpoint, it was a disaster.

So just as many nations became neutral, American young people reviewed the theory of war and the necessity for it. As a matter of fact, the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations attempted to talk war out of existence and lost every battle. The enemy, the Russians, could not only talk longer and louder, but increasingly other nations became neutral. And when they adopted the policy of "positive neutrality," it really meant that they would not oppose Soviet imperialism while accepting American economic and military assistance.

The younger people, who will have to fight in a war, whose careers are being changed by war, whose marriages are being postponed by war, ask the pragmatic question: What will war bring us?

The task of President Kennedy is to answer that question in realistic language, understood not by his generation or his father's but by the very young men and women who these days ask, what did World War II, the Korean War or the Cold War bring us?

President Kennedy will have to reply that World War II has not been completed, that it may be a One Hundred Years War, that it has already lasted 22 years and has produced only chaos and confusion. He will have to say that the chaos will be deeper and the confusion wider as the years proceed because this is not a war for bits of territory or increased power; it is a war for survival and the enemy has made the United States its chief target. Every tactical step in the Cold War fits into the immense strategy of first isolating and then absorbing the United States in the Soviet Universal State. Who wants to be absorbed?

The soundness of President Kennedy's position is that he is willing to risk the political consequence of war rather than to enjoy the stultifying pacifism of spiritual defeat. President Eisenhower made it a policy to avoid war during his career in office and he succeeded in the narrow sense that shot and shell were not used. But in the broad sense, he failed because Soviet Russia developed the Cold War into a vicious campaign for American destruction by economic attrition. So sure was Khrushchev that he was correct in his thinking that he humiliated Eisenhower as no American President had ever been humiliated before. And when the worst of it was over, Khrushchev faced the world, a vulgar but a conquering hero.

This can be said: Nobody is going to humiliate Jack Kennedy as long as he is President of the United States.

Simple Test Will Reveal
Dread Killer of Babies

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A simple test of sweat taken from the newborn's palm or sole may be the means for prolonging and perhaps preserving the infant's healthful life and of sparing the parents untold suffering and crippling financial strain.

Let me try to explain the complexities of the disease, revealed by the "sweat test," disease that now causes more infant illness and mortality than rheumatic fever or poliomyelitis.

For reasons completely unknown, some of us are born with a disturbance of the glands that secrete mucus. These glands include the pancreas (sweetbread) and those that form the lining of our bronchial tubes.

When any one of us with this innocent glandular deficiency marries someone who has also inherited this defect, our child faces a 1 in 4 chance of coming into this world with the disease known as cystic fibrosis of the pancreas (mucoviscidosis).

Of children with mucoviscidosis, only half survive beyond their fifth birthday. And what is equally tragic, their five years of life are years of suffering to them and their parents.

Now there is no way for prospective parents to know whether they are innocent transmitters of cystic fibrosis except by a close examination of their family histories. And, by way of encouragement, neither parent will transmit the disease to a child unless the other parent also is a transmitter.

Here are the conditions to look for when you investigate your own family tree to determine if you are a transmitter. Then, if you and your spouse suspect that you're both transmitters, you can have your babies sweat-tested at birth since early detection and skillful care are the keys to successful treatment.

Difficulty in obtaining a bowel movement immediately after birth.

Difficulty in maintaining weight despite a large appetite and what appears to be more than an adequate intake of food.

Passage of large, bulky stools usually colorless and often foul smelling.

Repeated respiratory infections often with distressing cough, followed by vomiting.

After six months of the combination of intestinal and respiratory difficulties, pro-lapse of the rectal mucus membrane.

Now if there is such a history in only one family, you don't need to worry since the defect must be transmitted by both parents. And if it's present in both parental trees, your child may be one of the 3 in 4 who escapes the disease.

But if your baby is one of the unfortunate, don't lose a minute getting treatment started. And, if you and your doctor seek guidance, you have only to contact the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation at 1616 Walnut St., Philadelphia 3, Pa., or the National Institute for Metabolic Diseases at Bethesda 14, Md., where Dr. Paul di Sant' Agnese, who devised the sweat test, is in charge of a special service devoted to the care of those with CF.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Kennedy administration is losing hope of any satisfactory solution in Africa for 10 to 20 years.

The most the Kennedy men expect is that they can during this period keep the Red take-over as small as possible.

They hope for a continent-wide delaying action until the African countries develop a minimum amount of political stability, economic strength and national loyalties instead of tribal loyalties.

Meanwhile, the United States will help train native African administrators, businessmen, teachers and troops.

The United States will give economic aid in large chunks. Administration experts figure this help eventually will give the African lands the strength they need.

But this will take a decade, maybe two.

Thus the Kennedy men have—in their own minds at least—solved the long-term problem. That is, if Africa can only hold out so long.

THE STRATEGISTS ARE MUCH LESS CERTAIN they can develop the delaying actions that will hold the continent free until the long-range program produces confident, able, experienced African nations.

But they have a lot of plans. The basic U. S. aim: to build up small islands, or pockets, of "independence" where we can, through the continent. Then help these "independents" hold their own.

United States diplomats have given up thinking they can make these "islands" "pro-American." They're going to frankly woo them as independents, play on any nationalism they can arouse, encourage them to insist on running their own shows, tell them we don't want to push them into arguments between the United States and Russia.

The Kennedy men count on natural rivalries between the heads of the tiny African nations and rivalries between the tribal chiefs and local leaders in each of these lands to provide the basis for building these islands.

IF ONE LEADER PUSHES too close to the Reds, his rivals, out of self-protection, will seek aid from the non-Communist world. Or so the theory goes.

Our men will be there waiting and ready.

There will be larger United States embassies, and one for almost every tiny new country. They'll be staffed with larger numbers of men and women than would be normal for countries so small.

At U. S. embassies in Africa, in Washington, and at the United Nations, representatives of these African lands will be given the personal attention and red carpet treatment reserved for key visitors. The "personality" treatment given by President Kennedy to Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah was a case in point.

It's all much like the system the British once found so effective in managing The Empire.

The United States will be ready to give aid and backing to any African nation wanting to bolster its independence. She'll give more emphasis to some "showy" aid programs. United States policy will tend to veer away more from the policies of Britain, Belgium, Portugal and France in Africa.

United States diplomats will remind the Africans of the Suez crisis, when Washington stepped in to stop the British-French-Israeli fight with Egypt. The United States will, in general, back non-Communist federations, however loose, between African states.

PRESENT THINKING calls for the U. S. to publicly declare the neutrality of Africa's new nations and call on Khrushchev to join that pledge.

This would be coupled with occasional warnings to Russia that the United States will counter any military aid or action. The Soviets will be reminded that in Africa, unlike in Laos, our supply lines are harder than Red supply lines.

So They Say..

I don't know whether or not there were any Marines at Tripoli. How the hell should I know? But I've believed it for 33 years and I'm going to go right on believing it.

—Maj. Gen. R. B. Luckey, commandant of Camp Lejeune, N. C., banning sales of a magazine which criticized Marine Corps traditions.

If the new president succeeds, America succeeds. And on that score we are all Republicans second and Americans first.

—Rep. Chas. Halleck (R-Ind.)

Padding the seat of my trousers is an old schoolboy prank I learned a long time ago. It's very sensible, don't you think?

—Philosophical Bertrand Russell, 88, leader of sitdown demonstration against U. S. submarine base in Britain.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CASA GRANDE, Arizona—

There is a terrible contrast between riches and absolute destitution in the desert. The quaking winos with sores on their bodies, the unemployed veterans of World War I who travel the highways by thumb, are a familiar element of the shifting population. The Papago Indians live in mud-and-wicker huts called hogans on their reservation close by the San Francisco Giants' training farm for minor leaguers at Casa Grande. The Papagos could live "better" if they desired, for there are ponies and cattle in their fields and they ride in good enough cars.

A few miles to the east of the giants' place, which was opened only recently, there is a strange huddle of muddy old canvas and sheet metal junk formed into a stove and shelter. A bent woman putters around wearing a sun-bonnet.

Walter Averill, of the giants' office in the camp, was until recently the owner and editor of the Casa Grande Dispatch. When I mentioned this desolate hovel far out of town and with no apparent source of water, he said:

"I do not know the lady, but the old man has been camping there for years and he is very independent. He does not talk freely to strangers. He owns a little patch there and he believes it is valuable. I do not know where they get water. Some of those people haul in water in drums."

Eloy, on the highway from El Paso to the Pacific, is the center of a crop zone of unbelievable richness. Most of the laborers are Negro migrants. They make big wages while they tarry in the fields and in the bars of the town. But amid the squalor there are more slightly local citizens of conventional appearance who would be typical of any decent crossroads. There is gambling, but when some Tucson reporters tried to make something of it a few years ago there were close out killings at the height of the local indignation.

Driving the last few miles to the Giants' camp toward evening, I came upon a figure so forlorn that I broke the rule against helping hikers. He got in with a little brown paper sack and let his head loll. His face was bluish from exposure, probably years of it, but the bag contained his razor and soap and he was shaven clean. He was going "to the ocean."

That is 500 miles west at a guess.

Why didn't he ride the Southern Pacific freight? Too fast to hitch onto along through here and the truckmen don't lift hikers any more. It is against the insurance.

I apologized for turning off at slightly at hearing that this was the Giants' camp. He was from Melrose, Mass., his name was Sullivan and he remembered seeing Bill Carrigan and the Boston Americans, long ago. He was planning to lie up in a culvert or ditch for the night.

I gave him a dollar. He threw me a listless little wave as I wheeled in to dinner at the executives' mess of the camp across the table from Carl Hubbell, the director of the whole simple complication which starts at the top with the Tacoma Giants of the Coast League. This league is rated AAA. This year it will make two hops to Hawaii and others from Vancouver to San Diego and to Salt Lake on the east.

There are three D Class clubs, from El Paso, Quincy, Ill., and Salem, Va., on Tidewater. El Paso has 270,000 population but lies too far from other pay-load cities to play in a league appropriate to her size. Many minor leaguers travel in buses or their own cars and live on candy bars, canned sandwich meat and crackers. It would be romantic but not necessarily true to report that they are so dedicated to their ambition to play in a World Series one day that they will endure all this for the hope of that. But as a bartender remarked one night in Yuma when some fuses blew and a floodlight game with Cananea, Mexico, was snuffed out: "They are just too lazy to work." He spoke with authority. He had been all the way up to the Yankee Stadium and down to Guatemala.

A few days ago, Hans Lobert, now in his '80s and one of John McGraw's few active alumni, had occasion to put in with the Giants' main office in San Francisco for six old pennants for a gala display. The New York Giants had won 13 and Lobert assumed that they were stored away — somewhere. But they were not in storage and there is no receipt to show where they were last.

Device to Block Parochial School Aid Is Reported

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28 — Word has gone forth on Capitol Hill that Speaker Rayburn is preparing to block any effort to include Federal aid to parochial schools in the general education measure when it comes to the floor of the House of Representatives. The idea is to rule that the proposed amendments would not be "germane."

While this may avoid political embarrassment to some of those members of the House who are afraid of resentments in their home districts, whichever way they vote, it probably will deprive the American people nevertheless of an opportunity to see a record vote on this controversial issue. It could have a far-reaching effect on the 1962 Congressional campaign.

Meanwhile, the debate by constitutional lawyers goes on. Rep. Democratic leader in the House, put into the "Congressional Record" a few days ago a report prepared at his request by Arthur E. Sutherland, professor of constitutional law at Harvard Law School. It differs from the view expressed by President Kennedy in his message to Congress and later at a press conference when he declared that aid to parochial schools at the elementary or secondary level is clearly unconstitutional. Prof. Sutherland concludes that the difference between existing Federal aid programs to sectarian schools and the proposal to permit Federal loans for construction are not enough to persuade him that "a measure providing for long-term loans of the character which I have described, to aid education in basic law subjects, would conflict with the provisions of the First Amendment."

Cites 1930 Opinion
Prof. Sutherland also draws attention to an opinion in 1930 by Chief Justice Hughes—concurring in unanimity by the other Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States which upheld a Louisiana law granting money to provide textbooks on general education free in all schools, sectarian as well as nonsectarian private as well as public. The Chief Justice quoted with approval from the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State of Louisiana, which had said in part:

"The school children and the state alone are the beneficiaries. It is also true that the sectarian schools, which some of the children attend, instruct their pupils in religion, and books are used for that purpose, but one may search diligently the acts, though without result, in an effort to find anything to the effect that it is the purpose of the state to furnish religious books for the use of such children."

Then Chief Justice Hughes, speaking on behalf of the Supreme Court of the United States, went on to say: "The legislation does not segregate private schools, or their pupils, as its beneficiaries or attempt to interfere with any matters of exclusively private concern. Its interest is educational, broadly; its method, comprehensive. Individual interests are aided only as the common interest is safeguarded."

Since the highest court in the land says that when a state furnishes free textbooks to all schools—public and private—it is constitutional, the question now is being asked why a Federal or state loan to construct a school building isn't also a broad and comprehensive interest in aiding the educational process rather than a specific aid to any religion.

The latest development in the controversy is the issuance of a brief just submitted to the Senate subcommittee on education by Alanson W. Wilcox, general counsel of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The documents were prepared in consultation with attorneys of the Department of Justice. The conclusions are far from a complete endorsement of all President Kennedy's statements on this issue at his press conferences. For it is evident that the constitutional barriers are not as clearly drawn as he implied. In fact, Mr. Wilcox says:

"It is also likely that where funds are made available to a church school on a loan basis for special purposes not closely related to religious instruction, constitutional objections may be avoided."

Example Given
An example is then given of an existing law of Congress which, as Mr. Wilcox says, "enables church schools to borrow funds for equipment to assist in teaching science, mathematics and languages." He adds:

"Such programs advance specific national purposes, and their relationship to the religious function of a church school is remote. Moreover, the requirement that such funds be repaid makes it unlikely that a church school will be enabled to free its own funds for religious purposes."

Supporters of aid to parochial schools by means of loans for construction now ask what is the difference between the purpose served by bricks and mortar in helping the general cause of education in parochial schools — both elementary and secondary — and the lending of money for equipment in teaching certain subjects in those same school buildings? For certainly in parochial schools general education is taught in conformity with standards set by state governments, while religious instruction is separate and supplementary.

It is also being asked why the President, in his recent message to Congress, recommended approval of Federal loans for construction purposes at colleges and universities operated by religious groups and didn't think this was unconstitutional, while he failed to give any approval to Federal loans for construction of parochial schools at the elementary and secondary level. Like all our glorious medals except the Congressional Medal of Honor, which is coined by the mint, these pennants are articles of humdrum commerce. They are made to order by an old New York firm that manufacturers them of all sorts. The sewing is done by women members of Dave Dubinsky's Union of Needleworkers.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the many uncertainties that have plagued business so far this year is now removed.

Business knows today what the Kennedy administration proposes to spend in the next fiscal year—if Congress agrees. With defense spending added in, it would mean a deficit of more than $4 billion.

Business, prospering or declining, labor, employed or jobless; and just plain taxpayers will probably line up in one of three camps:

One of Three Camps

1. Those who feel that any departure from strict pay-as-you-go federal financing is bad for the economy because it can be a seedbed for inflation. This cuts the purchasing power of the dollar.

2. Those who feel that present economic conditions don't call for all the measures that would contribute to that $4-billion-plus deficit. They hold the budget can be brought closer to balance and the majority be the better off for it.

3. Those who feel that the benefits proposed will, as the President contends, foster greater economic growth and thus more than pay for themselves.

The President broke the deficit to the nation in two steps. First he offered a budget with defense items left out. This would call for an excess of spending over receipts in the fiscal year starting July 1 of about $2.2 billion.

Congress Must Decide

Tuesday he dropped the other shoe—a defense budget of $43.8 billion. Since this would be $1.9 billion more than the Eisenhower budget proposed, it would add to the total deficit by that amount. The Treasury would thus end up $4.1 billion in the red.

While business now knows what the President proposes, it doesn't know what the Congress will finally appropriate. Especially business will be kept on the uneasy seat while Congress debates how much to spend for this and that item.

For it is those specific orders that often spell increased or declining profits for individual companies who would like to supply them.

And the specific appropriations, since they mean orders for individual firms or whole industries, also go a long way in determining how many and what kind of workers will get jobs—or, lacking the orders, maybe even be laid off.

Budget An Estimate

The Kennedy budget—like the Eisenhower budget—is of necessity an estimate. It sets forth how much the administration would like Congress to appropriate. Sometimes Congress votes less and sometimes more than asked. The budget also guesses what the Treasury receipts will be.

Since the Treasury gets most of its receipts from income taxes on individuals and corporations, its take depends to a notable degree on whether times are good or bad.

If a business recovery comes along as hoped, and is more substantial than most expect, the receipts might go high enough to whittle down the predicted deficit. If the recovery is delayed, or if it is milder than now counted upon, Treasury receipts may fall well below the Kennedy estimate. And then the deficit could become a real whopper.

Old Shows Still Pay

NEW YORK (AP) — Profits are still being reaped by investors in two long-run Broadway musicals no longer on White Way display. A recent $25,000 distribution to backers of "Damn Yankees" carried the show's payoff past the million dollar mark; a payment of $37,500 raised the profits on "Pajama Game" to $1,712,500. Both were produced by Frederick Brisson, Robert L. Griffith and Harold S. Prince, were each financed at $250,000.

Lockport Couple Fined $100 on Bad Check Charge

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A Lockport, N.Y., couple has been fined $50 each on charges of attempting to pass bad checks, forgery and conspiracy.

Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Manson were fined Tuesday but Judge Elmer L. Evans of Erie County suspended 15-week jail sentences because, he said, the couple has been in jail the last 15 weeks. Manson, 29, and his wife, the former Shirley Ann Jones, 25, were married Jan. 12 in the county jail after pleading guilty to the charges.

The Mansons: Harold Morgan, 26, also of Lockport, and Joseph Derda, 24, of Newfane, N.Y., were arrested here Dec. 13.

Police said the four carried 52 blank payroll checks and seven bogus checks made out for a total of more than $1,000. Miss Jones attempted to cash one of the checks, police said.

Derda, convicted on a conspiracy charge, is awaiting sentencing. Morgan's case has been continued until the May term of court.

The term "antichrist" appears in the 1st and 2nd Epistles of John in the New Testament of the Bible.

CIVIL WAR ALBUM

Beauregard Commanded South's Forces at Sumter

PIERRE GUSTAVE TOUTANT BEAUREGARD turned down an appointment as superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy and resigned from the Army on Feb. 20, 1861, after his native state, Louisiana, seceded. Beauregard was born in May, 1818, in New Orleans. He was graduated second in his class from West Point in 1838 and later served with honor in the Mexican War, being wounded at Chapultepec. In 1853, he was made a captain and put in charge of fortification and other engineering efforts at various points along the Gulf Coast. Beauregard served in that capacity until 1860 when the appointment to West Point was offered. Upon his resignation he was made a brigadier general in the new Confederate Army. It was he who directed the opening fire on Fort Sumter and accepted the surrender of the fort by

Maj. Robert Anderson, who had once been his favorite artillery instructor at the Point. In August, 1861, he was made one of the five full generals of the Confederacy.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

IS FREEDOM JUST A WORD?

President Kennedy and many others say the Communists are gaining on us. Krushchev says we "Americans are living the last years of our greatness." Foreigners are losing confidence in our dollar, which is one way of saying they are losing confidence in us.

Do we care, or not? Is FREEDOM just a word?

Suppose that in the last election there was only one candidate; that you dared not talk to your neighbor about anything to do with the Government;

That your newspapers printed only the news that a commissar chose to have you read; that your radio or TV (if any) was run by the Secretary of Propaganda;

That you could not visit your relatives or friends in another town or State unless you got a permit; that your wages were fixed by a Secretary of Labor; that you did what you were told, where you were told, and could not talk back;

That when the Government stopped paying interest on its bonds you were forced to buy, you could not protest, or even mutter to yourself in public;

That you could not own the house you lived in, and probably had to share it with one or more families who were filthy, drunken and quarrelsome;

That if you were charged with a crime, you would have no chance of being found innocent if the Government wanted you to be convicted.

Suppose this happened. Would you blame Krushchev or yourself?

Gromyko's Delay Hints Important Soviet UN Move

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's delay in leaving for the Warsaw Pact meeting has aroused speculation that some important Soviet move is about to be made at the United Nations or in Washington.

Gromyko had been scheduled to leave Sunday for the Communist bloc meeting that opened Tuesday in Moscow, but Soviet sources indicated today he will remain here at least until Friday.

Many diplomats, including some close to the Soviet delegation, believed Gromyko was staying on to relay an expected answer to President Kennedy on Western proposals to halt the fighting in Laos. Gromyko conferred with Kennedy Monday on the Laotian crisis but refused to tell newsmen whether his government would agree to an immediate cease-fire.

There also was speculation that Gromyko's staying on meant agreement was imminent on a formula for reopening East-West disarmament talks.

Some sources also suggested that Soviet uneasiness over growing friendliness between the United States and the new African nations might have prompted the Kremlin to keep Gromyko on the scene.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson met with African delegation leaders Tuesday and assured them of substantial U.S. support and technical help for a broad aid plan, provided the African nations take the initiative in mapping out the program.

The Soviet Union which has been wooing the African group for the past few years, was expected to make some move soon to try to counter the U.S. aid offer.

The assembly itself continued debate on the Congo crisis.

Insurance Claim Comes Quickly in Ulster Town Fire

Another example of prompt insurance adjustment was reported this morning following a fire in the home of Mrs. Josephine C. Herrick of Pine Place, Sunset Park, Town of Ulster.

A defective oil burner produced an overflow of fuel and a blowback which poured heavy soot and smoke throughout the Herrick residence.

Flames in the cellar were extinguished by Ulster Hose Company No. 5 and the house opened up to air out.

The fire broke out at 6:45 a. m. and was soon under control.

Mrs. Herrick then called T. J. Rifenbary of 30 Manor Place, her insurance agent, who went directly to her home. By 9 a. m. she had inventoried her damage and signed a proof of loss for which she will receive a check by mail within a day or two, Rifenbary told The Freeman.

Lake George Fire Destroys Building, Burns Machines

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y. (AP)—Fire destroyed a large frame building housing several thousand dollars worth of equipment at the Martin Lumber Company early today, fire officials reported.

The building contained the saw and sorting mill. Firefighters from five communities prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

The damage estimate was not immediately available.

10 Children Now Quads Are Born To Bay Stater

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Quadruplets were born to Mrs. Raymond J. Feyre, 35, today, increasing the family children to 10.

The 114-pound, 5-foot-3½ wife—prepared for triplets—exclaimed "You're kidding!" when her doctor gave her the news.

The father, 38, a $120-a-week insurance agent, was told to sit down before the doctor gave him the news.

"Wonderful! How are they?" the father asked.

The babies, ranging in weight from 3 pounds, 5 ounces up to 3 pounds, 13 ounces, had been expected in May.

Doctors described the conditions of all, and the mother, as excellent.

The mother was sped to the hospital for the premature births, all of which took place within a 10-minute time span. May 17 had been the birth date forecast by doctors.

Two of the quads are girls and two are boys.

Prepared for triplets, and with names for all of them, the Feyres are now revising their list.

Papa Feyre—pronounced fair—will also be revising his grocery budget soon. He is now spending $15 a week for groceries.

Having caught his breath after the first excitement, he said bravely to an interviewer, "I'm the father and I'm going to support them. I'm thrilled."

The small, slight, pregnant mother last month saved two of the family's youngest children when fire heavily damaged their home.

Use Floral Scents

Most women like to have at least one of the floral scents in their perfume wardrobe, for they are light and gay and perfect for daytime wear no matter what the occasion.

Mink Dresses Gloves

Satin shortie stretch gloves now come cuffed in mink! They're done in lovely colors, too: white, gold or silver.

25-Year Loan

the upgrading of good homes and neighborhoods to preserve our cities and protect the living standards of our people."

No Price Tag on Program

Weaver said the entire housing bill emphasizes "the improvement of our existing housing supply instead of relying primarily on new housing construction for better homes, as we have been doing."

Kennedy's special message put no price tag on the total housing program. Weaver said the bill calls for new spending authority of $3.19 billion. Of that amount, $1.05 billion would be spent by June 30, 1965, and $311 million in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1.

All these outlays would be in addition to those already authorized. The amount previously authorized for fiscal 1962 is $728 million.

The biggest new item would be $2.5 billion in authority to commit federal funds for urban renewal projects. The commitment would extend over four years but actual spending would continue for 10 years or longer.

Weaver said this would "make it possible for our cities and urban areas to plan and develop their growth over a reasonably long period, instead of a year-to-year basis."

Experimental Basis

Congress never has authorized urban renewal commitments for more than two years in advance.

The proposed 40-year loans for moderate income families would represent a broadening of the present program available only to those displaced by urban renewal projects or other government action.

Kennedy would make such loans available, on an experimental basis, to all those who can't afford regular FHA mortgages but earn too much to be eligible for public housing.

The program initially would be authorized for two years expiring July 1, 1963.

The 40-year loan would carry the regular FHA maximum interest rate of 5½ per cent and would be available for housing on sale or rent. Mortgages would be subject to a ceiling ranging, on a single family house, from $9,000 to $15,000—depending on local building costs.

To entice private lenders into the program, FHA would have authority to pay off defaulted loans in cash.

Other Provisions

Other items in the bill would provide: Extension of the regular FHA mortgage insurance program until Oct. 1, 1965, considerably longer than Congress ever voted in the past.

Extension of the regular home improvement loan program for two years until Oct. 1, 1963.

100,000 additional public housing units.

Increase by $10 a month the federal contribution toward rent payments of elderly and disabled tenants in public housing projects.

Increase the spending authority under the present program of direct housing loans for the elderly from $50 million to $100 million.

Allow 30 per cent, instead of 20 per cent, of urban renewal grants to be used in areas which are not predominantly residential.

FHA-insured mortgages for units in cooperative apartments and for experimental housing using new materials, techniques or designs.

Low-interest insured loans on rental and cooperative housing built by nonprofit organizations for low and moderate income families.

Increase funds for urban planning aid from $20 million to $100 million and increase the federal contribution toward the cost from one-half to two-thirds.

Authorize $200 million for public facility loans instead of the present $150 million. This program covers everything from sewers to city halls.

Ave Says Tour Shows Confidence In Nation Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman reported to President Kennedy today he has found "great confidence" around the world in the new White House leadership.

Harriman spent an hour giving the President an account of his trip from which he returned Saturday.

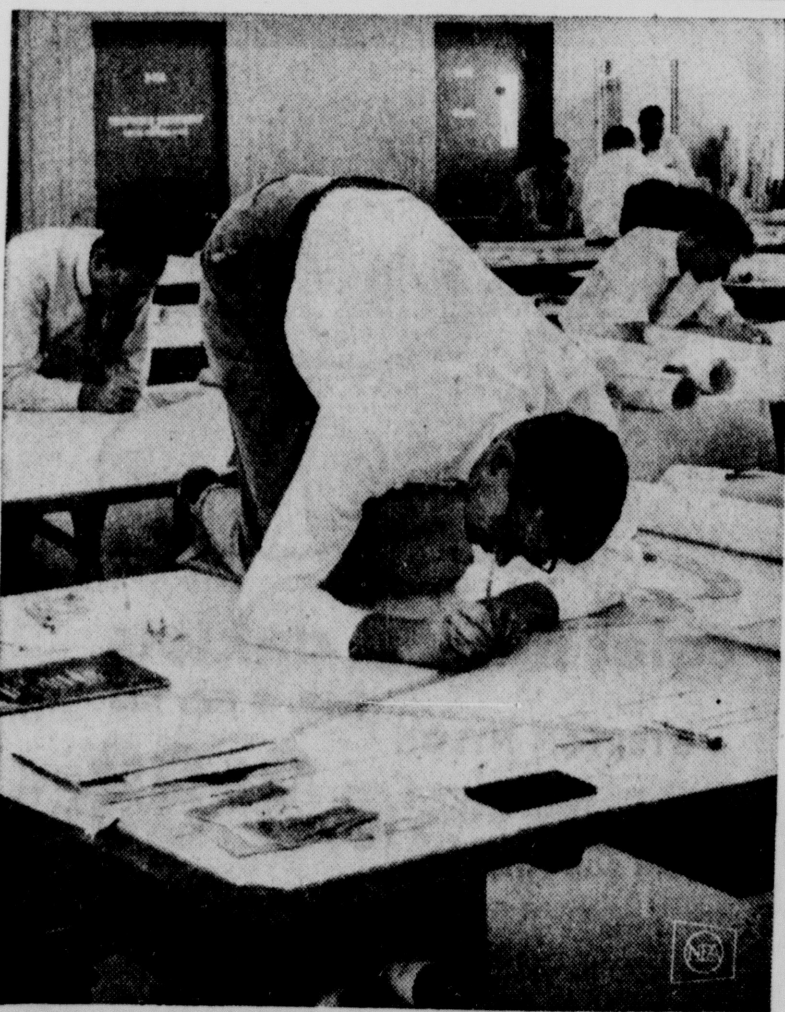

Foreigners compare the new days in Washington with the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harriman said, and believe generally that the United States is now doing "what they would like the United States to do—live up to its great traditions."

In addition to the major NATO powers in Europe, Harriman visited India, Morocco, Iran and Pakistan.

Gas Leak Fells 150

BALTIMORE (AP)—Leaking chlorine gas from a tank in the hold of a freighter sent nearly 150 workmen to five Baltimore hospitals late Tuesday. Twenty were reported still in serious condition today.

The longshoremen were unloading 15 cylindrical tanks containing the gas from aboard the S.S. Frances, owned by Bull Lines of New York, when a nozzle on one of the tanks was knocked off.

ON TOP OF THE PROBLEM—Drafting isn't noted as a profession requiring much athletic ability. But sometimes, on a tough job, a knee-bend solves the problem when an arm-stretch can't quite make it, as this automobile draftsman demonstrates. Photo courtesy Ethyl News.

Two From Music Festival Favored For Jobless Pay

Two artists who participated in the Empire Music Festival while it was being held in Ellenville are entitled to unemployment compensation, the Appellate Division has ruled. The two, singer Joyce Gill and musician Carl Seigler, sought unemployment compensation after the season closed.

General Manager Frank Forrest contended the two were not entitled to unemployment compensation since they were engaged in "educational" work and under the law "educational" workers are not eligible. They contended they were engaged in the "entertainment" field and that such workers under the law are entitled to compensation.

In an opinion by Justice Francis Bergen, it is held that they were entertainers and were therefore entitled to compensation when they became unemployed at the close of the music festival season.

New Flood ...

the vicinity of the library would be elevated to the height of the bottom of the lowest steel cross-beam on the Route 32 Bridge.

There will be a pumping station at the point where the stream of water enters the Rondout Creek at Main Street next to Kimker's residence. The creek banks behind many houses on the north side (Main Street side) of the Rondout Creek will be made steeper with fill. However, these back yards will not be raised above the level of Main Street. The only levees and dikes that will be constructed will be on James Street, below Route 32. These dikes will be earthen, and seeded, and will be maintained as lawn would be.

May Take One House

There will be a small ponding area in the vicinity of lower James Street below Route 32. The only house that would have to be condemned and taken by the State of New York would be that of Frank Nosenzo, and that is not definite, and may be avoided. The stone walls behind the Kelder Hotel property would be strengthened with a new concrete wall added next to the one in existence on the outside of same.

The Army Engineers stated that after this plan had been executed and completed, the worst flood on record for Rosendale, that of October 1955, would be contained in the creek bed, and the height of the flood waters for a flood of that intensity would be one and seven-tenths feet (1.7 ft.) below the lowest steel cross-beam on the Route 32 Bridge.

Route 32 will not be raised. The town and village would have to keep the creek clear of tree stumps and similar obstructions, (which they are now committed by contract to do after the 1956 temporary project was completed). The village and town will be responsible for ordinary maintenance, and the State of New York will defray the cost of extraordinary maintenance. The Town of Rosendale will have to adopt 'Flood Zoning Ordinances'. By that is meant that in a certain area any buildings constructed in the future will have to be constructed above the newly established high water mark, so that there will be no unprotected property constructed in the area to be protected by the new plan.

Would Spend Millions

Under the new plan, as under the old, the only expense on the part of the Village and Town of Rosendale will concern itself with any village or town roads affected. In the new plan, the only local road affected is lower James Street, which will have to be raised to go over the proposed levy and dike.

The federal government, the committee reports, will spend one million dollars on this project, and will be protecting approximately two million dollars of real property, not including the vast amount of personal property as was destroyed in 1955.

The Rosendale Area Flood Control Committee was exceedingly grateful to Bernhardt S. Kramer, representing Congressman Wharton, for participating in the conference. Kramer pledged the congressman's wholehearted support for the plan, and has assured the committee that everything will be done in his power to make the plan a reality.

Dietz Store Entered

Local police were notified this morning that the Dietz grocery store, Hasbrouck Avenue and Prince Street, had been entered during the night and $5 in change, mostly pennies, was taken from a cash drawer. Entrance was gained through the breaking open of a rear door. It was undetermined whether any of the store's stock had been taken. A preliminary investigation was made by Officers Anthony Turck and Bernard Bouton.

Hub Caps, Coat Stolen

Police were notified today of the theft of four hub caps from a car and of a car coat from another. Eugene Carpino, of 106 North Front Street, reported the hub caps taken while the car was parked in a lot near that address. Reynolds Carr, of Lounsbury Place, reported the theft of the coat.

Accept JFK Stand

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Twenty liberal political leaders in 12 Latin American nations today called upon Latin America to accept the "friendly hand" extended by President Kennedy.

Jose Figueres, ex-president of Costa Rica, told a news conference the 20 have signed a manifesto reading in part:

"We should now accept the word of President Kennedy and take the initiative in the face of the proposed alliance for progress. Progress for us signifies liberty, justice and development."

Kennedy proposed March 13 that the United States and Latin America combine in a long-range economic assistance program, with the United States aiding those nations that institute political and social reforms.

Do you remember what old-fashioned buttered oven toast tastes like — the kind with butter melted, hot and delicious right into the bread? Ordinary toasters can only toast dry. Not the Roto-Broillette. Spread your favorite topping — butter, cinnamon, cheese — and you get flavor melted all the way through, not just on top. Speed? You'll be ready for "seconds" before the ordinary toaster can deliver the first piece. And it makes FOUR slices at once. Handy for heating frozen waffles, warming brown 'n' serve rolls and coffee cake, baking pizza pies, toasting sandwiches. Doubles as a regular broiler, too — grills hamburgers, broils fish, roasts potatoes. Compact enough to take with you on weekends and vacations. Polished aluminum finish. 600 watts, 120 v. AC-DC.

Glen Cove Firm May Get Cortland Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations are under way by the Pall Corp. of Glen Cove to acquire the Trinity Equipment Corp. of Cortland. The negotiations are in "advanced stages," Dr. David B. Pall, president of Pall, and George R. Feeley, president of Trinity, reported.

Trinity makes dry gas and air systems and other industrial products. Pall produces porous metal filters for airborne and industrial use and also is in the business of water treating, glass fiber installation, and manufacture of pressure indicators and switches.

Directors of both companies would have to approve the arrangements.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wants to spend $11.3 billion on programs President Eisenhower would have spent $1.2 billion, Rep. John Taber, R-N.Y., claims.

Taber, senior Republican member of the House Appropriation Committee, made the comparison in inserting into the Congressional Record a list of programs proposed to Congress by Kennedy.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Cheesecake Is for Easter Dessert

SUMPTUOUS Easter cheesecake is one to remember. Fresh strawberries, basking in a strawberry glaze, top it off.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
This you will like in a big and Easter way — a cheesecake glorified by fresh strawberries and a strawberry glaze.

FRESH STRAWBERRY
CHEESECAKE

(Yield: 10 to 12 servings)

1 1/4 cups vanilla wafer crumbs

1/4 cup butter or margarine,

melted

1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

1 tablespoon sugar

5 packages (8-ounces each)

cream cheese

1 1/2 cups sugar

3 tablespoons flour

1/4 teaspoon salt

2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract

5 whole eggs

2 egg yolks

1/4 cup heavy cream

1 quart fresh strawberries

Strawberry glaze

Have all ingredients, except cream at room temperature. Mix vanilla wafer crumbs, butter or margarine, the 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract and the 1 tablespoon sugar. Press firmly on bottom and about half way up the sides of a buttered 9-inch spring form cake pan.

Beat cheese until fluffy. Combine the 1 1/2 cups sugar with flour, salt and lemon rind. Gradually blend into cheese, keeping the mixture smooth. Add pure vanilla extract, eggs and egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each. Stir in cream. Turn into crust-lined pan.

Bake in a very hot oven (475 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 200 degrees F. and bake 1 hour longer. Turn off heat. Let cake stand 15 minutes. (The cake will shrink some). Remove sides of pan.

Just before serving, top with sliced strawberries and spread with strawberry glaze.

Fresh Strawberry Glaze: Wash and decap strawberries. Crush enough to make 1 cup. Blend 1/2 cup sugar with 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch; add 1/2 cup water and add to crushed strawberries. Bring to boiling point and stir and cook 2 minutes. Cool. Spread over strawberry-topped cheesecake. Chill.

Once there was a very brave lion-tamer who was not afraid of the most vicious lions in the menagerie. But he had a wife who did not like him to stay out late, and one night he did stay out late. When he realized it was midnight, he was panic-stricken. He didn't dare go home, but if he went to a hotel, his wife might find him. So he went to the menagerie, crawled into the lions' cage, and went to sleep with his head resting on the largest lion. The next morning his wife began to hunt for him, and she

BARBS

By HAL COCHRAN

Sometimes we wish a barber would make a double charge for men who always have a long face. Too much rock and roll and disk jockeys get the needle.

Parents are people who are allowed to turn to any TV program they want after the kids have gone to bed.

looked all over town. Finally she came to the menagerie and saw her husband in the lions' cage. A look of contempt came over her face, and she snarled: You coward!

The young couple were finding out about the joys of a joint bank account.

Husband — The bank has returned your last check. Bride (gurgling) — Goody. What should I buy with it next.

The sick man was an unwilling patient.

Man — I may as well tell you doctor, that I come to you only because my family insisted. Personally, I haven't any faith in medical science.

Doctor — That's quite all right. You know, the mule has no faith in the veterinary surgeon, but he nevertheless cures the ailing animal.

Tears wash the eye with Nature's strongest germ killer. One teaspoonful of tears give anti-septic power to a hundred gallons of water.

Ruth — If you could have two wishes, what would they be? Sandra — Well (thoughtfully) I'd wish for a husband.

Ruth — That's only one. Sandra — I'd save the other until I saw how he turned out.

Customer — These cigars seem shorter than they used to be.

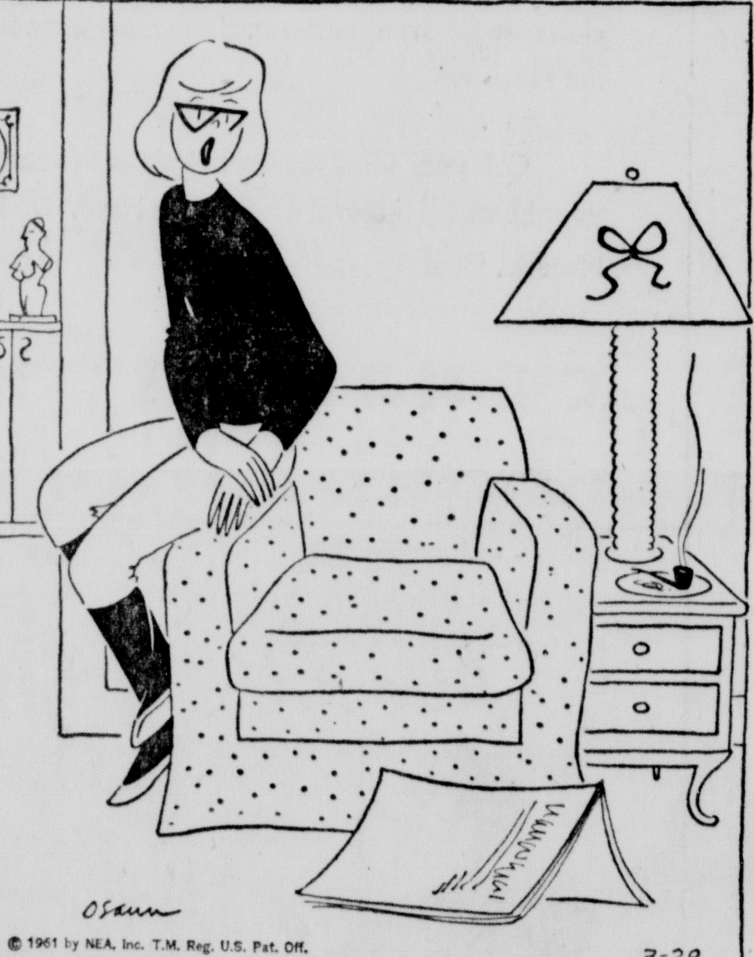

Clerk — Yes, the manufacturer noticed that the last inch was always thrown away, so he is making them that much shorter.

Then there was the fellow who heard a good joke and was going to take it home, but he decided that was carrying a joke too far.

He was training his dog to "talk" for his meals. Therefore,

TIZZY

By KATE OSANN

"But, Father, I'll HAVE to have high heels for Saturday night! My date is captain of the basketball team!"

he would hold the dog's food just out of reach and bark a few times before giving it to him. He hoped the dog would associate barking with food and begin to "speak" for himself.

After a week of going through this routine, he again held the food out of reach, and waited for the dog to bark. The puppy did not respond to the cue, but being kindhearted the man put the dish before him anyway.

Then came the shocker—the dog refused to eat until his master barked.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Wars and World Fairs seem to change the world with new ideas and inventions. There will be a World Fair in New York again soon. This year is the 100th Anniversary of the Civil War. I have a "Grammar School History of the United States," by John J. Anderson, Ph.D., published by Clark and Maynard in 1879. They have a chapter at the end of the book called "Civil Progress of the Nation."

The Census of 1870 showed a population of the Union some 40 million with some 14 cities, having a population of each exceeding 100,000 and 7 in which there was more than 250,000. The Metropolis had nearly one million. Cincinnati had grown from 500 in 1805 to more than 216,000. This book no doubt compiled several years before 1879 tells about the great use of furnaces, stoves, etc., for heating purposes, and its application to machinery, as a substitute for human labor, and for the propulsion of land-carriages, as well as for the purpose of navigation.

Ship-building on which this section has built many a family fortune, or anyway a comfortable living is covered in part in this book. The first vessel built in New England was built in Medford, Mass., for Governor Winthrop. She was launched on the fourth of July, 1631 and was called the "Blessing of the Bay." The author also adds: "Up to the commencement of the Civil War (1861) this branch of labor was among the most flourishing in the country; but the operations of Confederate cruisers, aided, as they were, by British influence and support, had the effect to paralyze this, as well as every other branch of industry dependent on navigation."

This grammar school history book of 1879 further reads:

"Under our system of free government and free schools, the various pursuits connected with the printing and publication of newspapers, books etc., have reached great activity. . . the wide-spread demand for information has stimulated the application of science and art in this branch of industry to the highest degree. . . also "One of the earliest inventions for improving the old printing-press was the Columbian Press, invented by George Clymer of Philadelphia, in 1881; and more recently the powerful cylinder presses constructed by Richard M. Hoe, of New York have made it possible to keep pace with the daily demand for newspapers and books. By the cylinder press worked by steam, in connection with the stereotype process, as many as 40,000 impressions of newspaper can be taken in an hour." That proves that back in the early 1870's, the American people could read and write, and had a great desire to read daily newspapers, keep up with the latest in inventions, science, art etc. Steam was a great incentive to many inventions.

They mention the canals: "Already Lake Champlain from the north, and Lake Erie from the west, had been connected with Albany. The Delaware and Chesapeake Bays have been united. A canal is nearly finished in the upper part of New Jersey, from the Delaware to the Hudson, by which coal is already dispatched to our market." This was from a speech by an Edward Everett in 1827, our D. and H. Canal which brought prosperity to Rondout, Ulster County etc., was completed in 1828. The total length of canals in U.S.A. in 1854 was some 5,000 miles.

West Should Have Passed

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Playing at four diamonds, East ruffed the opening spade lead; drew trumps with two leads and led a club to dummy's jack.

North won the trick with the king and led back the ten of hearts. East forced South's ace with the jack and managed to make his four diamond contract.

West remarked, "Nicely played, partner. I had really hoped to push our opponents on to four spades, so I could double them, but your play gave us a 30-point profit as against plus 100 for setting three spades one trick."

East had been fuming all through the play and even though he was pleased by West's praise of the dummy play East could not help remarking, "All that nice play was wasted. We are going to show a loss on this board because at the other table West will have doubled three spades and set the hand one or possibly two tricks. Our partners will be minus at least 200."

East's analysis turned out to be correct. At the other table West decided that North and South were not going to be nice enough to go to four spades. He also decided to gamble that he could set them at three.

West doubled and South had to work hard to get out for a 200-point loss.

Jaycee Egg Hunt Saturday Open to Three Age Groups

The annual Jaycee Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Saturday, April 1, at Forsyth Park.

At 11 a. m. 2,000 wrapped eggs will be sought by children in three age groups at the park. The eggs will be hidden in a fenced area of the park where children in age groups 7-10, 4-6, and 1-3 will be given the opportunity to keep as many eggs as they can find. Awards will be given to the child in each age group who ends up with the largest number of eggs.

The winner in the 7-10 age group will receive Hudson Valley's largest chocolate egg given by Nekos Pharmacy. The winner of 4-6 age group will receive a large chocolate rabbit also given by Nekos. The winner of the 1-3 age group will receive an appropriate award given by Grant's.

The Easter Egg Hunt sponsored annually by the Jaycees was attended last year by over 1,000 children. Chairman Ward Inglesbe hopes for nice weather this year but has set April 3 as an alternate date in the event of bad weather. Other members of the committee include Harry Blabber, Emil Buhler, Jack Finch, William Keith, James Nerone and Robert Rush. James Murphy has pledged the assistance of the city recreation department in constructing the fenced area for the hunt.

The event is open to all children 1 to 10 in the Kingston area.

Titan Successful On 5,000-Miler

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A successful 5,000-mile test flight of an operational prototype of the Titan missile has moved the big intercontinental-range weapon a step closer to combat readiness.

The 98-foot bullet-shaped rocket struck a target in the Atlantic Tuesday night after a 30-minute, 17,000-mile-an-hour flight. The Air Force reported all test objectives were met.

Earlier in the day, a Mace-B guided missile lost power a few seconds after launch, crashed and exploded on an isolated tip of the Cape. The swept-wing rocket was taking off on the start of an 800-mile test.

Second Speeding Offense Costs Driver $50 Here

A driver charged with a second speeding offense was fined $50 in city court Tuesday night and seven others paid $80 for vehicle and traffic violations.

Loughran Struber, 23, of P.O. Box 886, Tillson, paid the $50 fine, and Robert Reigal, 20, of 28 Plattickill Drive, Mt. Marion, charged with leaving the scene of a recent mishap at East Strand and Tompkins Street, was fined $25 plus revocation of his license.

Fined $10 each on charges of speeding were: Philip Shookis, 3rd, 18, of 45 East Bridge Street, Saugerties; William Ammermann, of Hurley; Christopher L. Soffos, of Rifton; Raymond Shea, Teakettle Road, Plattickill, and Douglas Hunt, RD Box 163, Kingston. A $10 suspended fine was imposed on William Wells, 41, of 74 West Pierpont Street, who was charged with speeding. Hilda Polak, of Route 2, Box 175-A, Kingston, charged with a stop-sign violation, was fined $5, and Hildegard Roland, 32, of RD 5, Box 119, Kingston, charged with speeding, was fined $10 today.

A third degree assault charge against Joseph Berardi, 22, of 238 Albany Avenue, was withdrawn. A Saturday police report said it was lodged by his wife.

Ingo May Leave, Is Court Ruling

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Swedish heavyweight Ingemar Johansson today was granted permission to leave this country pending final settlement of U.S. government tax claims against him.

U.S. Dist. Judge Emmet C. Choate permitted Johansson to depart after the fighter promised to return to this country when his testimony or depositions were required in the government's efforts to collect approximately a million dollars from his ring earnings.

Standing before Judge Choate, Johansson said through his attorney, Matthew Manes of New York City, that he wished to return to Sweden to see a brother who recently underwent brain surgery and had asked for him.

Johansson promised to return to this country when the government required his presence.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in a statement:

"Prior to our consenting to Mr. Johansson's request that he be allowed to return to Sweden because of his brother's illness, we had obtained a court order setting aside between $200,000 and $300,000 as security for Mr. Johansson's possible tax liability."

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon as trading spurred.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 to 243.3 with industrials up .90, rails up .10 and utilities up .60.

Key issues chalked up gains ranging from fractions to more than a point. Special issues made wider gains.

American Telephone jumped 2 1/2 to an all-time high of 119 1/2.

Most motors pushed ahead. Steels advanced fractionally. Airframe stocks were mostly on the rise.

Metals, oils and drugs joined the advance. Utilities and rails were mixed.

Brokers said the market may be nearing the end of the corrective period through which it has been going for a week.

The motors generally moved ahead more than 1/2 point. Steels gained fractions.

General Dynamics added a point but there was a slight easing of enthusiasm for Boeing and Lockheed.

Zenith advanced about 2 points. American Chicle fell about 1/2. Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge rose about a point.

Standard, Texaco and Royal Dutch gained fractions.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.20 to 672.78. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregularly lower.

President Keeps Close Tabs on Doings on Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported keeping the telephone lines to the Capitol hot in a day-by-day attempt to drum up support in Congress for his New Frontier program.

Despite his deep involvement in such international crises as that in Laos, influential members of Congress have found that Kennedy is keeping close tabs on legislation as it moves through committees.

A case in point was the President's call Tuesday to Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., while the Senate Finance Committee was considering the administration's bill to extend the Sugar Act which expires Friday.

Had Kerr's Backing

Kerr had been backing in committee an amendment by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., to give sugar beet growers in Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas about one-third of the 3.3-million-ton allotment taken away from Cuba.

As the bill stood, most of Cuba's allotment would go to Peru and Mexico in the Latin American area where Kennedy is courting better relations, with the remainder going to the Philippines.

After the call, Kerr voted for the amendment which lost by 11 1/2 counts. He also joined with Anderson in the only two votes cast against the measure itself.

As the Kennedy operation unfolds, the President is taking over efforts to persuade his former colleagues to go along with his program.

Johnson Plays It Down

Although he is ready with advice and counsel when senators ask for it, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has refrained in most cases from attempts to whip up administration support. Senators learn directly from the White House, not through Johnson, what Kennedy wants.

Kennedy also is credited with approving in advance individual maneuvers by which the administration has narrowed its proposals somewhat in an attempt to consolidate support for more controversial items.

In this connection, Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., came up Tuesday with some revisions in the minimum wage bill which was passed by the House in a form not at all acceptable to the President.

Two-Step Plan

McNamara's new proposals would take the minimum wage up to $1.25 in two steps, instead of the three proposed in the original administration bill. He moved to narrow coverage by excluding 200,000 of the 4.3 million new workers that would have been brought under its provisions.

The latter move seemed designed to satisfy Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., on the coverage of chain being included, only those units which do more than $250,000 in annual business would be covered.

But this compromise failed to satisfy Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla. Monroney wants minimum coverage to include only companies with stores in more than one state. He is against any dollar volume criterion.

Since Monroney's amendment lost by 50-48 test on a similar bill last year when Kennedy was one of the senators opposing it, there are indications that the President may have some more missionary work ahead of him on this issue.

Couple Split on TV, Set on, Voice Low

CHICAGO (AP)—TV or not TV? That was the question before Superior Court Judge Daniel A. Covelli Tuesday.

James A. Cannon, 52, a railroad fireman, sought an injunction to keep the television set in his home silent after 10 p.m. He said he gets up at 5 a.m. and his sleep is interrupted by disturbing background music and screams from television programs.

His wife, Helen, 50, asked an injunction to keep the set on after 10 p.m. Both pleas were incorporated in a divorce action filed earlier by Mrs. Cannon, who charged her husband with cruelty.

PO Aide Learns Ropes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Postmaster General Richard James Murphy is taking steps, literally, to learn postal operations.

He found out firsthand Tuesday about the multitude of steps the ordinary mailman takes every day by serving as a helper on a route in a residential section in Washington.

Few of those who took their letters at the front door recognized the new man with the heavy sack. Since his recent appointment, Murphy has popped up on railway mail cars and at the New York Post Office, working the after-midnight shift.

Against Peiping Horde

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—An alliance between Russia and the United States "against the Chinese horde" is expected in his lifetime by former Vice-President Henry Wallace.

Wallace, now 72, told an overflow crowd at the Wisconsin Center Tuesday night:

"I believe the Chinese would like to see the apocalyptic day of final reckoning sometime about 1970."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev recognizes that the Chinese "are a menace to the people of Russia as much or more than they are to the people of the U. S.," said Wallace. This will bring about a Russian-Western alliance in the near future, he predicted.

Newburgh Youth Will Face Trial For Auto Damage.

Charged with damaging another youth's car following the Kingston High School-Newburgh Free Academy basketball game on Feb. 24, Samuel Belvedere, 19, of 295 Walsh Road, Newburgh, is scheduled to appear before City Judge Charles J. Roskoski on April 24 at 7 p.m.

Belvedere appeared in Newburgh City Court Tuesday without counsel and the case was adjourned.

Belvedere was arrested on complaint of Anthony Fiori, 17, of Route 1, Kingston, who charged the Newburgh youth with malicious destruction of property. Belvedere was released on $100 bail.

Fiori accused Belvedere of damaging his car during an argument in the NFA parking area.

Wallace Predicts Russia-U.S. Pact

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—An alliance between Russia and the United States "against the Chinese horde" is expected in his lifetime by former Vice-President Henry Wallace.

Wallace, now 72, told an overflow crowd at the Wisconsin Center Tuesday night:

"I believe the Chinese would like to see the apocalyptic day of final reckoning sometime about 1970."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev recognizes that the Chinese "are a menace to the people of Russia as much or more than they are to the people of the U. S.," said Wallace. This will bring about a Russian-Western alliance in the near future, he predicted.

3 Persons Hurt In Two Mishaps, Driver Arrested

Three persons were injured in two vehicular mishaps Tuesday night in the lower part of the county, one of whom was hospitalized, and Highland state police arrested one of the drivers on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Miss Domenica Charlotte Trafagander, 22, of RD 2, Highland, was admitted to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, about midnight after her car went out of control at the intersection of South Street and Ardona Road, Plattickill, and smashed into a utility pole.

Condition Fairly Good

She was taken to St. Luke's Hospital with a fractured collar bone, a possible concussion and numerous abrasions and lacerations.

Hospital authorities said today that her condition is "fairly good."

Troopers James Kaljian and William Brennan of the Highland state police reported that Miss Trafagander was proceeding in a northerly direction when she was blinded by the headlights of an oncoming vehicle, applied her brakes and skidded into the utility pole. Time of the mishap was 11:15 p.m.

Trooper William Brennan also investigated a two-car collision at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of Route 9W and King Street, Marlboro, in which two persons were hurt, and one of the drivers arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Admitted to Kingston Hospital with contusions of the chest and arms was George Pappas, 33, of 93 St. James Street.

Virgil Turner, 34, of RD 1, Walden, was treated by an area physician for lacerations and abrasions of both knees and released.

Will Appear Later

Trooper Brennan arrested Turner for drunk driving. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Curtis Northrip of Milton and released in custody of his wife for an appearance at a later date.

Brennan said that Turner was proceeding in a northerly direction on Route 9W when he swerved into the southbound lane and smashed head-on into the Pappas car which was traveling south.

The lower Hudson District of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, comprising seven counties, will hold its annual regional conference at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Tuesday, April 11.

Leslie P. Dodge, regional vice-president of the Lower Hudson District, has contacted the secretaries of the member boards in the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester in regard to the all-day session program.

There are to be three sessions, morning, luncheon and afternoon. The keynote of the conference is Strategy for Success. Three speakers will be heard at the morning session. President John B. Swift of the State Association will speak at the luncheon and in the afternoon there will be a panel discussion.

The subjects chosen are Sign Up Mr. Builder and Mr. Subdivider, Improve Your Real Estate I.Q., combined with interpreting statistics for everyday use, Effective Use of Appraisals and the A.B.C.'s of Selling.

Realtors, real estate brokers, their salesmen, as well as the public who are interested in these subjects are invited to attend.

Manley Behrens of Poughkeepsie, director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will preside at the morning and afternoon sessions. Leslie P. Dodge, regional vice-president, will be toastmaster at the luncheon.

Reservations may be made with Adele Royael, secretary of the Ulster County Board of Realtors.

Third of State's 2,088 Road Deaths Caused by Speed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Excessive speed accounted for more than one-third of the 2,088 traffic deaths recorded in New York State last year, the State Motor Vehicle Department says.

Speeding or other traffic violations figured in all but 21 of the 1960 traffic deaths, the department reported Tuesday.

The department said 782 persons died because motorists violated the law requiring "reasonable and prudent" speeds.

The pedestrian toll was 735 and the department said 464 pedestrians were killed because of their own mistakes, primarily crossing between intersections.

The department's list of other violations and deaths included: Driving on the wrong side of the road, 300; proceeding without the right of way, 293; and other types of reckless driving, 181.

Drunken driving caused 177 deaths, the department said.

Packaged Foods Stock

Shows Rapid Progress

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"After reading your column on food stocks recently, I'm torn between Corn Products and Borden's. Wouldn't you say that Borden's has better possibilities for long-term growth?" E. J.

A—The two stocks you are considering are both high-grade, stable situations with well-covered dividends. But when considering long-term growth prospects, however, I view them quite differently.

Borden's is primarily in dairy products where competition is intense and where certain operations are subject to government control. Growth has been steady and moderate and will probably continue that way. From 1954 through the end of last year, Borden's earnings showed a 17 per cent gain.

During the same period, Corn Products' earnings increased by 93 per cent. This substantial rise is due in large part to the company's 1958 merger with Best Foods which put Corn Products squarely into the industry's fastest growing segment—packaged foods. An additional reason for the company's rapid progress is the aggressive expansion of its overseas business.

I hope you are not letting Borden's lower price influence you. Corn Products shares will come down into the medium price range in a few weeks when a two-for-one split takes effect. I know of few food stocks whose growth potential equals that of Corn Products at the present time.

Q—"I bought 584 shares of Houdaille Industries at 16 some 18 years ago. Should I make a change?" C. C.

A—Houdaille is selling for less than 3 points above what you say you paid in 1943. From any standpoint, this is a very disappointing performance during a period of intense economic growth. Due mainly to the company's dependence on feast-or-famine industries, earnings have made no headway in recent years. I feel that you have held this stock long enough and I advise you to switch into an issue with more growth potential, such as Winn-Dixie Stores (NYSE).

Doyle Conviction Upheld, Further Appeal Planned

The Appellate Division, Supreme Court, has upheld the conviction of Mrs. Mary Doyle, Greenkill Avenue, who was convicted on a charge of grand larceny arising out of a shortage of funds at the local Mohican Market where she was employed.

The conviction was attacked by her counsel, Joseph Avis, on the grounds her constitutional rights had been violated. Specifically the conviction was attacked on the grounds two police officers had entered her home on November 19, 1959, and requested her to accompany them to the district attorney's office where after four hours of questioning she was arrested on a grand larceny charge.

Avis contended the officers had no right to invade her home without proper authority or a warrant. It was also contended her confession was not a voluntary one.

Avis said today, the case would be appealed to the state court. Mrs. Doyle has been on bail since the conviction in county court. In order to test the question of whether the defendant had been granted a fair trial and due process of law under the 14th amendment of the Constitution, Avis indicated the matter would probably be taken to the highest court if necessary.

Focus on Health In Science World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Alertness in your sleep, the allergy to old dust, tooth decay and teen-age drinking are subjects with a focus on health: SLEEP ALERT

Part of your thinking brain may be wide awake, while you're asleep.

British researchers ordered a group of sleep volunteers to raise their hands whenever they heard their own names. Then a tape recording of 56 names in random order was played. The volunteers fell asleep listening to the recording, but many awoke with automatic hand movements when their names came up on the recording.

Some subjects, told to listen for a name other than their own, also awoke when the chosen name was called out, singling it out from the other names in their sleep.

DUST TO OLD DUST
It's the old dust around the house that sets allergy sufferers to wheezing, sneezing and itching, a chemist says.

House dust breaks down with time into the irritating products that cause the trouble. Fresh dust doesn't have the same effect, suggests Dr. Arthur Lietze of Oregon State College.

It's also likely that food allergies are based on digested products of the food, not on the food itself, he told the American Chemical Society.

TOO MUCH, TOO SOON
Teen-age alcoholics: Where do they come from?
A Boston study of 20 teen-age problem drinkers found these facts:

Almost all the fathers and some of the mothers were alcoholics. Often the father had deserted, leaving the family nearly destitute. The pattern of excessive drinking was apparent before puberty. Most of the alcohol was stolen. Outstanding personality traits: Hostility, depression, impulsiveness and sexual confusion.

TOOTH DECAY
With fluoride dentifrices, good brushing technique and the amount of time the teeth are exposed to the dentifrice are factors in how effective they will be in preventing tooth decay, researchers report.

In addition, brushing with fluoride dentifrices will enhance the efficiency of fluoride applied to your teeth by a dentist, a recent dental research meeting was told.

Merritt Haines Celebrates 90th Birthday; Keeps Informed About Local, World Events

Merritt Jefferson Haines, whose picture was carried on the front page of The Kingston Daily Freeman yesterday, celebrated his 90th birthday quietly at home.

Born in the village of Jefferson, Greene County, N. Y., on March 28, 1871, he is the son of the late George Washington Haines and Julia Paradise Sitzer Haines. He is better known to his many friends as "Mat." Physically spry and mentally alert he reads The Freeman very carefully every evening and undoubtedly is more fully aware of the county, state, national and international picture than most younger adults.

Mr. Haines recalls the time he was about 12 years of age and President Chester Alan Arthur spent a week in Palenville at the Hotel Kaaterskill. The President arrived on a train from Catskill to Palenville and took the stage from Palenville to Kaaterskill. Mat Haines was one of a group of school children who met the President at Palenville. Many of the children shook hands with the President, as did M. J. Haines. Haines recalls the President had side whiskers.

Mr. Haines began working for the railroad at an early age and was what they called a "Lincoln Pin Man." After working with the railroad for several years, he went into the carpentry business, a trade taught him by his maternal grandfather, Peter Sitzer.

For a time, after coming to Kingston, where he has lived for the past 50 years, Mr. Haines worked with Art VanGaasbeek. On his own he built about 50 houses. It is reported he could build a house in 65 days from cellar to attic, all alone.

For many years, Mr. Haines worked as a carpenter with the Building Department of the Kingston Board of Public Works. He retired from his position as head carpenter eight years ago, on the day before his 82nd birthday.

On October 28, 1894, Mr. Haines wed the late Ada A. Becker of West Saugerties and they celebrated 59 wedding anniversaries before her death in 1954. Mr. Haines now makes his home with his eldest son, Theodore Haines at 152 Smith Avenue, this city. He also has another son, Claude Haines, a third son, Kenneth Haines who died five years ago.

Mr. Haines also has three grandsons, Ronald, Robert and Allan, a granddaughter Carol, and a great granddaughter, Deborah Haines.

To keep busy, it is not unusual for this 90-year old gentleman to shovel snow, mow the lawn, or do his gardening — he considers it all part of his daily routine.

BOTH LUNCHES ON ONE CHECK

Q. The other day — while lunching in a restaurant, a man whom I hadn't seen for some time came in and as he went by my table, stopped and spoke to me. After talking for a few minutes, I asked him if he would like to join me, which he did. We were so engrossed in conversation that I hadn't noticed that the waitress put both lunches on the one check. The man picked up the check and paid it. I felt as though he was forced into paying for my lunch and was very embarrassed over it. I didn't know quite what to do, so I did nothing. Will you please tell me if I should have reimbursed him?

A. You should very earnestly have offered your share of the check to him, but if he positively refused it you would not press it further.

Receiving a Present One Dislikes

Q. How does one thank a person for a present that she dislikes and the person who gave it to her knows her dislike of this particular item but gave it to her in spite of this? I received such an item from a relative and I cannot help feel that this gift was given to deliberately displease me. I am sure a thank-you note is expected, but what do I say? I would certainly appreciate your help.

You write to her and thank her for whatever it was she sent you, without adding anything about how lovely it is or that it is just what you have always wanted.

Wearing Bracelet Over Glove

Q. I have a very pretty charm bracelet that I wear all the time. When I wear gloves, I usually wear this bracelet over my glove. I have been told that this is not in good taste. Will please tell me if this is true?

A. It is quite proper to wear a bracelet over a long evening glove at a formal reception, a ball, etc., where gloves are kept on. A bracelet is not, however correctly worn over a street glove.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Y-Wives Plan Spring Projects

At a recent meeting of Y-Wives, Mrs. Donald DuBois served as auctioneer for a miscellaneous sale sponsored by the group for members and guests. The program proved to be very successful.

In conjunction with spring, Y-Wives will be making plastic flowers at the scheduled meetings of April 13 and 27. Gertrude West will come from Highland to teach the membership the art of making the flowers which are reported to be extraordinary. The making of vases, such as ivy and philodendron, will also be included in the instruction. More details about the project will be announced.

Hostesses for the March meeting were the Mmes. Earle McLane and Donald Hulsair.

The YWCA is a Red Feather Agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

The difference in price between today's prescriptions and those of 20 years ago can easily be figured. The difference is measured in dimes... sometimes even in dollars. But how can we measure the difference in results. Surely, no value can possibly be put on a life saved by a miracle drug that didn't exist 20 years ago!

Suits to Suit the Woman in You

The soft look for Easter Sunday is apparent in (left) this scarf suit of all-American wool. Fashion points are easy cut of jacket, elbow-length sleeves and king-size buttons. Wool jersey costume (right) pairs brief bellhop jacket with full, fluid skirt.

GAILE DUGAS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK, (NEA) — The suit mood for Easter, 1961, is a soft one. Soft, feminine, gentle.

Lots of tricky things have been done with the collarless neckline. It's really a matter of having your cake and eating it. Designers have created collarless necklines with scarf attachments, and collarless necklines that borrow the collar of the blouse beneath.

Jackets, nipped to the waistline or the top of the hip bone, are cut along easy lines. The skirt beneath may be pleated or straight. And the total effect will be young.

The exciting colors of the coats in the Easter parade will be reflected again in these new suits. Green, strawberry mousse, beige, red, blue turquoise will march on their own or in company with one of the new suits. (The choice of suit or coat for the Easter parade is one dictated largely by the weather.)

Since an early Easter is quite likely to produce almost any kind of weather from sunny tropical to a snowy blizzard, it's the wise woman who's prepared for anything. This may mean buying both suit and coat. In which case, they should go together like money and banks. Have the coat fitted over the suit and check the hemlines on both carefully.

Nothing is quite so dispiriting to both owner and on-looker as the ensemble or the suit-and-coat with mismatched hemlines. It's one of the many details you should have in mind when you go Easter shopping.

A final hint: Before you join the parade on the big day, check yourself from head to toe in a full-length mirror. If the mirror says "yes" to everything, have a wonderful time!

4-H Club News

Ulster County 4-H Club youth demonstrated its skills Saturday at the Ulster County 4-H Club Demonstration Day, held at the Kingston High School Vocational Building.

The program included 82 demonstrators ranging in age from 9 to 17 years, exhibiting skills in foods, clothing, agriculture, crafts and gardening. Many fine demonstrations were presented by these young people exhibiting all the fine leadership and guidance the young people in 4-H work receive from their local volunteer leaders.

The results of the demonstrations showed 33 blue awards for excellence, 36 red awards for good performance and 5 white awards for worthy performance. From the excellent award group, boys and girls within the age requirements were chosen to represent Ulster County at a three-county sub-district demonstration day to be held at 74 John Street, on Saturday, April 8 and a six-county District Agricultural Demonstration Day to be held at 74 John Street, Kingston on Wednesday, April 5.

This group includes Bernadette Brennie and Mary Jane Capozzi of Triboro 4-H Club, Highland; Lynn Charlton, Hurley; Estelle Cleveland, Jean McCord, Linda McCord, Judy Wildrick, George Masterson, Wallkill; Denise Franklin and Frederick Michel, New Paltz; Marilyn Nickerson, Katsbaan and Alyce Wodischek, North Flatbush.

The program began at 8:30 a. m. with demonstrators located in six rooms in the vocational building.

Judges were Mrs. John Gaffney, Highland; Mrs. Lewis Short, Kingston; Mrs. Leslie Rathbun, Stone Ridge; Mrs. George Mollenhauer, Rosendale; Mrs. Margaret Fosler, Plattekill; Miss Patricia Hornung, Ellenville; Mrs. Gertrude Elliot, New Paltz; Mrs. George Wildrick, Wallkill; Mrs. J. Sanford Cross, Nyserike; Mrs. Gerald DuBois, New Paltz, and Mrs. Michael Matara, Milton. Local leaders served as hostesses in each room, assisting members in setting up and introducing them to the judges and audience.

The afternoon program in the auditorium of Kingston High School was directed by Miss Eleanor Morehouse, a member of the Executive Committee. It included a showing of a new 4-H film, "Man Enough for the Job."

The program following included E. R. Bower, Ulster County 4-H Club Agent with general praise and comments to the group; Miss Mary Lou Rice and Carlton Conklin, presently on military leave, Assistant County 4-H Club Agents, who presented awards to the demonstrators.

Garden Club Makes Announcements Here About Two Bills

A regular meeting of the Ulster Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Johnson on Pearl Street recently. Several members gave reports on the International Flower Show held in New York recently. Of special interest were the reports of Mrs. Kenneth Davenport and Mrs. Herbert Johnson who had been hostesses at the Garden Club of America display. Hanging baskets, miniature vegetable gardens and espalier fruit trees were among the interesting items discussed.

The club went on record in favor of anti-billboard legislation, also against the proposed constitutional amendment which would give the Hunter Mountain Development Corporation more land upon which to expand its facilities.

Thursday, May 18 and Friday, May 19 have been announced as the dates for the flower show to be held in the Ulster County Savings Institution.

A lively garden quiz was held with all members participating. Awards were given to Mrs. Harold King, who took first place; Mrs. John Remensnyder, second place, and Mrs. Burton Davis, third place.

Mrs. Gerard Betz and Mrs. George Pratt presided at the table where tea and coffee were served.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Invasion by a small army of Ohio highway patrolmen Tuesday night and beginning of a week's spring vacation at noon today have brought quiet to Bowling Green State University's troubled campus.
More than 50 patrolmen moved across the campus Tuesday night, forcing students to return to their dormitories. This came after university President Ralph W. McDonald proclaimed a state of emergency.
Dr. McDonald took the action after many students had boycotted classes Tuesday and about 400 had gathered in front of the Student Union building.

Ruth Millett

Watch Out, Uncle Sam!
Nieces Are Hep to You

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
It was a woman who tipped President Kennedy to the fact that plans were under way for a plush $200,000 annex to an officer's club in France.

Since her tip resulted in the President's personally halting the project, and his press secretary's explanation that the story was made public because the new administration welcomes word of wasteful or unnecessary government spending, Washington mailbags are sure to be top-heavy with such tips—and many of them will be from women.

Women are the real economists in most families. They're the ones who compare prices, shop for bargains, take advantage of sales, and in dozen of other ways stretch the family dollar to the limit.

So naturally they are the ones who get the most burned up when they see tax money wasted. It's not just tax money to them. It's George's tax money—the money the government took out of George's pay check before it ever reached his wife.

Told that the President is interested in being tipped off about government waste, the women are sure to have a field day snooping out flagrant extravagance.

Once they start tattling, to the President, that overworked executive may have to add a new member to his cabinet to handle the complaints.

For you can bet your bottom tax dollar that the women can find out plenty about how Uncle Sam's money is being spent. Think of all the secretaries and file clerks in government offices, of all the wives of servicemen stationed in this country and abroad, of all the wives of government workers. Once they start watching Uncle Sam's spending as carefully as they watch their own, they'll come up with a lot of tales.

You had better go easy, Uncle Sam. Your nieces are going to be watching you.

There are eye-openers on the home front, too. Read Ruth Millett's "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

New Coat Lengths for Spring

There are new lengths for both coats and suits this spring. Little coat with black leather bow (left) is by Arthur Jablow. Fabric is a lightweight British woolen. Street suit (right) by Tiffau Busch has cape silhouette. It's done in bold gray-and-white check.

ASK THE DESIGNER

Dear Gaile: I've seen so many pictures of smart sleeveless dresses for spring that I would like to buy at least one or two. But my upper arm isn't really pretty and so I hesitate to wear a sleeveless style. Are these clothes meant only for very young women?—Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: Indeed not! These fashions are meant for you and all other fashion-conscious American women. This is what designer Bill Blas of Maurice Rentner has to say about this:

"In a country so intrigued with youth, it's inevitable that great emphasis is placed on young styles. Only the woman with a really ugly upper arm should resist this youthful look as it's going to be around for some time. You should realize that a sleeveless dress can make you look 10 years younger."

"Here at Rentner, we include a pair of sleeves with all such styles. Invariably, the customer thinks she can't wear a sleeveless dress. But when the sleeves are basted in for her, she realizes how much younger she looked without them. And out they come again!"

Dear Gaile: I really do need help in choosing a bathing suit. My husband and I are going to the West Indies on a trip soon and I do want to get in some swimming while I'm there. But although I am not overly fat, I have a big frame and a mature figure. In other words, I take a size 48. As I am very self-conscious in a bathing suit, I would appreciate some advice on the kind of suits that would make me look slim and that would also have good styling for my size.—Mrs. H. H. D.

Dear Mrs. H. H. D.: First, don't take along just one swimsuit. Take two or three. You'll need them for change-offs. Always allow plenty of time for a suit to dry after you've sudsed it out. Now, advice on your style problem comes from designers. Robby Len and Lee, who have done much to solve the problem of swimsuits for extra large women. Here is their advice:

"What you must do is shop for suits designed especially for women sizes 42 to 54. These suits should have good inner construction to firm the figure. They should have little touches that emphasize the waistline."

"Never pick a large pattern design nor one with wide horizontal or broad vertical stripes. Watch for simplicity of pattern and style. And don't be afraid of colors."

Please send your problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Make Clear It's Game,
Not Child, That's Boring

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For his birthday, somebody sent Joe an anti-aircraft gun. An expensive toy, it was so intricate that his father had to show him how to assemble it, how to operate it and its target planes. Every night as soon as dinner is over, Joe hauls out his gun, loads it and calls, "Coming, Daddy? I'm gonna shoot down more planes tonight than you do."

If his father really listened to this eager invitation, he would detect a certain strain in it. Several days ago Joe had already begun to sense his parent's boredom with his gun game. But because his father did not express this disinterest in clear words, he came to the conclusion that it was due to boredom with him. Now this idea drives Joe to keep inviting his father to join him in the game, not because playing it with him is important but because he can't stand the thought that he bores his father. The over-eagerness that has come into his invitations to prove himself an interesting little boy to his father.

When playing games with children begins to bore us, we do them no favor to continue to play them.

If we do continue to play them, despite our disinterest, the children always know how we feel. Because we fear to say, "I'm tired of these Chinese checkers now" they get the idea that what really tires us is them. That's when they begin to persecute us with insistence that we play the game. Feeling our resistance, they pester us, not out of passion for the game but out of the unhappy suspicion that we find them uninteresting. Their demands for more Chinese checkers are demands for reassurance of our interest in them.

We avoid this confusion by telling them the truth about our wish to withdraw from games we no longer enjoy playing with them.

Telling this truth is good exercise for us. Begrudging giving to children is a bad habit to fall into whether it involves our companionship, ice cream cones or $10 bills. Our refusal to respect out our own resisting feelings gradually develops blindness to the children's feelings. So we cannot see the protest and anxieties our begrudging giving has aroused in them.

We may become one of those disappointed parents who ask himself, "Why, in spite of all I have given, do I receive so little appreciation?"

Land Bank Farm Mortgage Loans Interest Lower

Lower interest rates on Land Bank long term farm mortgage loans were today announced by C. Kenneth Taber, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Kingston.

Taber in reporting the action taken by the Federal Land Bank of Springfield said that effective March 27, the interest rate on new loans will be 5 1/2 per cent. A six per cent interest rate has been in effect since September, 1959. In addition to the reduction of interest rates on new loans, the Land Bank will, until further notice, give the benefit of the lower rate to present members now paying six per cent. This reduction in the billing to present member-borrowers is in keeping with the cooperative nature of the Land Bank system.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Kingston, Taber pointed out is one of 38 associations in the Northeast that together own all of the capital stock of the Federal Land Bank of Springfield. These associations are in turn owned by the local farmer-members, and obtain their loan funds from the Federal Land Bank of Springfield. The bank in turn gets this money on a wholesale basis through the sale of Federal Land Bank bonds to private investors in cooperation with the other eleven Land Banks making up this national system.

Most of this money less some re-financing of debts was new money brought into the area. In performing this credit service to farmers, the association benefits the area as a whole said Taber, because it puts "new money" to work in the community. This money, he said, brought in from outside stimulates business activity throughout the business community.

Police Swim For Jewels

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Nassau County police went swimming Tuesday and recovered 25 pieces of jewelry from Hempstead state park lake.

A team of five policemen, dressed in skin diving equipment, dove into the lake on a tip they would find part of the loot taken by a burglary ring that police say robbed hundreds of Long Island homes since 1955.

Three couples have been arrested and charged with the burglaries. Police declined to estimate the value of the jewelry they found in the lake, or to say who tipped them it was there.

Sudanese People Aim for Modern Ways, Lions Told

A communications adviser to the Sudan Government and former Kingstonian, Michael P. Guido, was guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club.

Guido gave an interesting talk on the Sudanese people and their way of life. A film was shown entitled "The Sudan."

Guido, whose title is senior communications media adviser to the Sudan government, has been stationed in Khartoum, Sudan, since April 1952. A graduate of Kingston High in 1940, he attended Oswego State Teachers College, served in the armed forces and then returned to school. He received his master's degree in education at Syracuse University.

Entering the foreign service of the Department of State in 1952, Guido served in the Middle East and Africa.

The film shown dealt with the progress made by the Sudanese since gaining independence in 1956. Areas of the republic reflect modern thinking and expansion, especially in the advancement of education. The film showed the development of irrigation and hydro-electric power plants now taking place, and expansion of industrial plants throughout Sudanese territory.

Plans were shown of the extensive water development and communication expansion programs being pursued by the government.

Guido said, "The Sudanese people are united in their struggle for complete and modern mechanization, for a New Sudan."

Jaycees Discuss Community Help In N. Y. Pageant

Local plans for the 1961 Miss New York State Pageant here in early July progressed Tuesday night. Pageant Director, Fred Moore, met with the convention committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce to discuss community cooperation in staging the pageant.

The Miss N. Y. S. Pageant is sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce under franchise from the Miss America Pageant. The winner chosen here will represent New York State in Atlantic City this fall.

A spokesman for the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce said today that active community support for the major event here is more than justified. Revenues for staging the event are derived primarily from ads in the attractive souvenir book and admissions to the pageant itself at the municipal auditorium, July 6, 7 and 8. Public attendance will be urged.

This will be the third annual pageant sponsored by the Jaycees. The selection of the N.Y.S. contestants here made excellent showings at Atlantic City. Bonnie Jo Marquis, winner here in 1959, won the swim suit portion of the competition in Atlantic City and was included in the 10 finalists at Atlantic City. Last year Susan Jane Talbert was selected as Miss Congeniality by all the contestants in Atlantic City, one of the most coveted honors, next to Miss America.

Benedictine Hospital 1960 Activities Are Reviewed

Sister Berenice, administrator of the Benedictine Hospital, in reviewing the hospital's record for last year stated that the year 1960 has proved again that the Benedictine Hospital has rendered an increasing amount of service to the community.

Facts contained in the administrator's review included the following:

The number of in-patients treated in 1960 was 8,396, an increase of 456 patients over 1959. The number of outpatients treated at the hospital amounted to 4,738, an increase of 458 over 1959. The total number of patients treated at the Benedictine Hospital for the year 1960 was 13,134; this is an increase of 914 patients over the year 1959. During the year we had an average daily census of 158 patients per day, compared with 147 last year.

The following is a breakdown of further service statistics:

	1960	1959
Operations .....	3,511	3,353
Births .....	1,270	1,167
Emergency treatments .....	2,792	2,522
X-Ray examinations .....	9,132	7,861
X-Ray films taken .....	36,528	31,444
Laboratory examinations .....	70,982	64,312
Laboratory specimens .....	24,140	21,726
Electrocardiograms .....	1,527	1,340

The financial statistics also indicate a dramatic increase in expenses for 1960. The hospital increased salaries in 1960 and placed all personnel on uniform pay scales for every classification of job. Coupled with this, the hospital is involved in a major renovation and decorating project for all areas and in addition the ordinary expenses of the hospital also increased to accommodate the extra patient load.

The net income from patients after deductions of $111,184.84 for free work, allowances and bad debts, was $1,402,991.49. The total operating expenses, most of which is spent in the local area, were $1,446,202.56. These expenses consisted of $879,080.82 for payroll and $567,121.74 for supplies, food, repairs, maintenance, etc. The operating deficit for the year 1960 amounted to $43,211.07.

Sister Berenice said that besides our immediate concern in providing the best care for the sick of Ulster County, we have a continued interest in the future by providing nursing education in the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing for those who give nursing care to the population of our community, state and nation in the years to come.

In conclusion she stated that as can be readily seen, the hospital's progress can only be accomplished by a mutual understanding and united effort on the part of the Governing Board, Lay Advisory Board, Medical Staff, Hospital Employees and Administration of the hospital. Add to the above effort the outside help received during the year from individual donors, the city administration, departments of public works, fire and police and the local newspapers, and you have a partnership in which each and every party assumed a definite obligation to each other and the community which we all serve.

The Ida Lear Story Typifies Teacher Devotion to Pupils

A Woodstock summer resident who doesn't think everybody over 60 just wants to loaf around in the sun, play bridge, read to the grandchildren or go to cocktail parties has opened an art school on swank Biscayne Boulevard in Miami, Florida.

"In fact, life really begins at 60," Mrs. Ida Lear told Beatrice Washburn, a staff writer of the Miami Herald. Mrs. Lear and her husband, Dr. Walter Lear, are summer residents here with a home on Glasco Turnpike.

Mrs. Lear, who was for many years head of the Palm School at Miami Beach, is now looking for new worlds to conquer. The Miami Beach School has been changed from a boarding to a day school, her son Walter is the principal and the indefatigable older lady has opened the new art school.

"One of the by-products of our atomic age," she comments with the terrific energy of a woman who never folds her hands or sits back. "We have laid so much emphasis on science and efficiency in our nation that the arts have been by-passed," she adds.

In earlier days, she contends, people took up china-painting, rug-weaving, knitting, embroidery, all kinds of peaceful pursuits. All things they could do with their hands. Now machinery has taken much of the joy of manual creation.

"I plan to run classes in oil painting, watercolors and sculpture, and you don't have to be a Picasso or a Rembrandt to enjoy it. It is a pity that art should be considered practically useless in America. It is terribly important to the individual, and that is what counts."

After more than 20 years of running a successful private school, why did she switch activities? You have only to look at her to find the reason. Square, dark eyed, a powerhouse of energy, she is the kind of person who is always on the go.

What mild-mannered timid woman would have thought of opening a school for cardiac children in the first place? Her husband, Dr. Walter Lear, had been cruelly handicapped with heart trouble. It was a problem to find a warm climate and at the same time educate children.

They tried Puerto Rico first, then came back to the mainland and decided to establish something badly needed for delicate children—a home where they would have both medical care and educational facilities. The Lear School through its many stages of development was a fabulous success story of dedication and service to children who might otherwise have been deprived of a full education or found it extremely difficult to adjust to normal conditions. The school in their nice home on Collins Avenue in Miami Beach was, in effect, the setting for an artificial but beautiful integrated family.

"I still believe that a family is the ideal setting for a child and when I hear people talk today of sending their two-year-olds to nursery schools, I couldn't be less happy about it. A mother and father are the basis of social life—even savages recognize this."

"My husband and I were fortunate that there were two of us, because parents need two children," says Mrs. Lear. "One is not enough. Moreover they should be parents, not pals. When you keep a gentle but firm hand on their activities, they respect and obey you instinctively."

The Lear pupils were raised in the old-fashioned standards of education—spelling and phonics were important. "Eventually we carried them straight through high school, and I was proud that many of my pupils went straight from Collins Avenue to Yale to Princeton, Vassar or Bryn Mawr."

The vital importance for all mankind of the resurrection of Christ Jesus will be stressed Sunday at Christian Science services in Woodstock.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy these passages will be read (pp. 292, 293):

"Truth will be to us 'the resurrection and the life' only as it destroys all error and the belief that Mind, the only immortality of man, can be fettered by the body, and Life be controlled by death. . . . In his resurrection and ascension, Jesus showed that a mortal man is not the real essence of manhood, and that this unreal material mortality disappears in presence of the reality."

Tackle Shop and Reub's Five Gain Cage Tournament Wins

FOREIGN ASSET

Middletown and Rhinebeck Clubs Suffer Losses

Play to Continue Thursday Night With A Twinbill on Tap

Ray's Tackle Shop, a team of outstanding veteran stars, and Reub's Five, featuring several of the top youngsters in the area, advanced to the semi-finals of the eighth annual Kingston Basketball tournament with impressive triumphs last night at the auditorium.

The Tackle Shop took an early lead over Rhinebeck and coasted to an 87-51 triumph in the opener. Then Reub's cagers pulled ahead in the second half to whip the Middletown Stars, 84-63, in the twinbill.

Action in the tourney continues tomorrow with an outstanding doubleheader on tap. In the 7:15 opener, the McLean Well Drillers of Germantown will oppose Morgan Fuel of Poughkeepsie. Then at 8:15, the powerful Pine Plains Bombardiers, with St. Peter's College star Billy Smith in the lineup, will tangle with the Poughkeepsie Collegians. It's an outstanding twinbill.

George Is Hot

Some deadeye marksmanship by George Carpozis was the feature in the victory by the Tackle Shop. Jumpin' George hit on 10 baskets in only 11 shots in the first half. The 20 points propelled the Tackle Shop to a 48-25 halftime margin and it was easy from there.

Carpozis played only sparingly in the third and fourth quarters. He finished with 22 points, high for both sides. Joe Klonowski, Chick Boice and Ronnie Scheffel also turned in double figure performances as the Tackle Shop showed its class throughout. Ron Miller and Red Moul kept Rhinebeck from being run completely out of the gym.

Joe Uhl, Harry Pratt and Jimmy Gordon sparked Reub's club to its win over players from the Orange County Community college varsity squad. Uhl had 25 points to lead both teams in scoring. He had 16 markers in the first half as his teammates took at 42-36 lead at the intermission.

Harry Is Superb

Pratt did a bangup job on both backboards and he added 19 points to the cause while Gordon played a solid all-around game and hit for 10 points. Ten players saw action for the winners and all of them scored.

Jack Coonan, who played at Newburgh Free Academy, tallied 20 points for Middletown and Lee Roberts, son of the Ellenville athletic director, added 10. The other cagers didn't do too much.

The Tackle Shop will clash with Reub's Five next Tuesday in a semi-final contest. The winners of the games tomorrow night will meet in the second tilt on Tuesday and the finals are slated for Sunday, April 9.

Mel Williams was the hero last night at the YMCA gym as the Byrne Chevies nipped the Hub Delicatessen, 68-67, in a thrilling overtime contest to win the Minor Cage league championship.

Williams knotted the score, 63-63, when he made a basket three seconds from the end. Then with the clubs embraced in a 65-65 deadlock in the overtime session, Mel hit on a three point play with 14 seconds remaining to clinch the tilt.

The win climaxed a banner season for the Neil DuBois coached squad. The Chevies captured the fall championship. Williams and Fred Orr topped the winners with 15 points each. Nick Nagele gave a good effort for the Hub with 18 markers.

Georgia Keglers Make Strong Bid For ABC Honors

DETROIT (AP) — In the 57 years of American Bowling Congress tournaments, the Middle West has so dominated play that only seven times have teams from other sections of the nation been able to crack through for championships.

A 292 performance at the 1961 ABC by the Brunswick of Atlanta, Ga. Tuesday night threatens Midwest supremacy.

The Brunswick, a pick-up club whose members never competed together before as a team, got off to the finest start of any Classic division entry on a 1030-956-1006 series.

Ralph Brunt, 21, Decatur, Ga., captains the team. He got 615. James Smith, Jacksonville, Fla., led with 662.

The Brunswick roll their second 3-game set tonight.

The Classic division lead is held by Continental Plastics of Roseville, Mich. with a 5903 six-game total.

Hamm's of Chicago was off to a good 2934 series in the Classic. Adjust-a-Grips of Toledo took over the regular team all-events lead with 9,062.

Joe Hayes of Muncie, Ind. moved into second in regular individual all-events on a 1921 total. He also took fifth in regular doubles with Bobby Graves on a 1271.

Fred Lening and George Glasco of Fairless Hills, Pa., also starred. Lening had an 1885 for third in Classic all-events. Glasco took fourth with 1879.

Pete's Texaco of Ann Arbor, Mich. became the new Booster division team leader on a 2802 total.

Al Lopez Gets Another Boost From Chisox Pitching Staff

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox pitching staff, which cost the club the American League pennant last year according to Manager Al Lopez, is fast erasing the memory of the senior's worst finish in 11 years as a major league skipper.

Southpaw Billy Pierce wiped out another hunk Tuesday in a 3-1 exhibition victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers as he limited the National Leaguers to two hits in a six-inning workout and became the fourth White Sox starter in succession to hurl low-hit ball.

Pierce's performance followed similar outings by Early Wynn, Frank Baumann and Herb Score needed to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. Jim Gilliam accounted for the Los Angeles run with a single in the seventh.

The pitching must do it for the 1959 pennant-winners, says Lopez, who blames last year's third-place finish on the staff. "We led the league in batting, fielding and stolen bases," says the senior. "So it must have been the pitching."

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have lost ace right-hander Larry Jackson for at least a month with replacement Al Ciochete combined with Art Kay and Mickey McDermott to shut out Milwaukee 1-0 on four hits.

Friend Goes Route

Pittsburgh right-hander Bob Friend also turned in an outstanding job as he went the distance, scattering eight hits in a 9-2 triumph over the New York Yankees and gaining a measure of revenge for the two losses he suffered in last year's World Series.

In other games, San Francisco edged Boston 2-1, Minnesota nipped Philadelphia 3-2, Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-7 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated Cincinnati 7-5 and Washington whipped the Red Sox 5-3. The Cleveland-Los Angeles Angels game was rained out.

Roy Sievers drove in two White Sox runs and that was all Pierce and reliever Russ Kemmerer needed to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. Jim Gilliam accounted for the Los Angeles run with a single in the seventh.

A single by Hal Smith, an error and Bill White's wind-blown double in the fifth brought across the game's only score as the Cards whipped the Braves with the unearned tally. Carl Willey and Don McMahon spun a six-hitter for Milwaukee.

Dick Stuart's homer with one aboard and Roberto Clemente's solo shot gave Friend the support he required while becoming the first Pirate pitcher to go the route. Roger Maris homered for the Yankees, mired in the exhibition cellar with a 6-13 record.

Home runs by Bob Schmidt and Felipe Alou backed Sam Jones' three-hit pitching in a seven-inning sting for the Giants' victory over the Red Sox. Harmon Killebrew's one-on-one round tripper in the ninth brought the Twins from behind against the Phils.

Ron Hansen's fourth single drove in the clincher for the Orioles in their extra-inning struggle with the A's. Homers by Steve Boros, Rocky Colavito and Harry Chiti powered the Tigers to their win over the Reds, who got circuit blasts from Ed Kasko and Wally Post.

Gene Woodling's sacrifice fly chased across the winning tally in the eighth inning as the Senators edged the Red Sox.

County Streams in Fair Shape, Well Stocked for Trout Season

State to Have Modifications On System for Deer Hunters

New York's party permit system for deer hunters, which was tried for the first time last fall, is expected to be repeated with some modifications during the next gunning season according to Albert G. Hall, chief of the Bureau of Game in the State Conservation Department. He made the announcement at the 6th annual Adirondack Deer Forum at Old Forge, March 23-25, held under the sponsorship of the Six-County League and the Adirondack Conservation Council.

"We realize," Hall said, "that the seal arm band issued to hunters were of poor quality, and there were some violations under the system. But we've learned from our experience and hope to make some improvements before the next big-game season."

He also pointed out that the department will consider assigning permit quotas on a county basis, rather than regional, in order to ensure more proper management. In some counties, he said, the deer herds are out of balance with the available winter food supply and are also damaging agricultural crops, while in neighboring counties the deer populations are under control for the time being.

Sportsmen who attended the 3-day meeting indicated their approval of some kind of antlerless season to control the deer herds by a vote of 115 to 46, and more than half of those voting "yes" favored the party permit system as the most effective method.

Under the special permit issued last fall, a party of 4 or 6 sportsmen who hunted in any of 3 specified regions of the state was eligible to take one deer of either sex in addition to the one deer-per-hunter allowed under the regular big-game license. The regions were the Adirondacks and the Catskill-Taconic area where the number of hunters to a party was 4, and the northern Catskill-Central New York area where the party size was 6. The take under the party permit system was 10,717, out of a total deer take of 45,735.

Ulster County game protector Philip J. Gillen says that streams in the area will be in much better shape than last year when the trout season opens on Saturday. Most are still somewhat high and roily but the period of peak thaw and flooding seems to be over. Conditions would have been much better, according to the game protector, if the late winter storm hadn't deposited that extra snow on the ground.

Streams are well stocked, most of them with brook trout, which do well in the high, cold water. The season runs from Saturday, April 1, to the end of September.

Those in Ulster County stocked with trout and the number in each include:

Shawangunkkill 2400, Plattekill 1700, Sawkill 1735, Beekkill, west branch, 100, Rondout, Ellenville section 600, Sandburg 1330, Kenoy 1100, Mill creek 600, Rochester creek 900, Stonykill 500, Beaverkill 900, Pancake Hollow 480, Black creek 400.

Fishermen are allowed a limit of 10 a day. This year there is no limit as to the size of the trout. The only exception is in the reservoir area where the limit is three. The new regulation is designed to cut down the loss of small trout.

Red Sox Skipper Sees Improvement in Squad

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — "I feel we'll be much improved over last year when we got off to a bad start. Our outfield defense is much better and that should help our pitching."

That's Manager Mike Higgins' appraisal of his Boston Red Sox, who finished seventh last season in the American League.

The club this spring appears younger and faster with the return of Jackie Jensen offsetting the retirement of Ted Williams.

Carl Yastrzemski, the $100,000 bonus rookie signed off the Notre Dame campus two years ago, takes over Williams' left field position.

Gary Geiger returns to center field after recovering from the collapsed lung that put him out of action last year.

Taking up where he left off before his one-year retirement in 1959, Jensen says, "It doesn't seem as if I'd missed that season."

West Cagers Top East Five, 103-100

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The West, hitting half its shots and dominating the backboards, defeated the East 103-100 in the annual Shrine all star basketball game Tuesday night.

Walt Bellamy, Indiana's 6-foot-10 great, and Kansas' Bill Bridges led the winning attack with 21 points apiece although four other West players carried their share of the scoring. Gary Phillips of Houston scored 20, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's (Calif.) 16, Ced Price of Kansas State 12 and Bill McCintock of California 9.

The West, coached by young Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, led 52-51 at the half and there was never more than a 3-point spread in the spectacular shooting contest.

Trailing by 5 points, with little more than a minute remaining, Bob Wiesenbahn of Cincinnati and Larry Siegfried of Ohio each hit for the East to narrow the count to one point. Phillips made two free throws to settle matters.

Tom Stith, St. Bonaventure's great scorer, led the East with 20 points. Siegfried scored 17, Tony Jackson of St. John's hit 7 of 10 long shots in the second half and wound up with 14 points as did Wiesenbahn.

Izaak-Waltons Will Send Boy To DeBruce Camp

Ellenville Chapter of the Izaak-Walton League has voted to defray expenses for sending an eligible boy to the DeBruce Conservation Camp in August.

Roger Fredenburgh, Game Protector, told the March meeting of the chapter that a stocking of legal size trout had been made by the Conservation Department in the Homowack and Sandburgh Creeks in preparation for the opening of the trout season on April 1. Other streams in and about Wawarsing will also be stocked before April 1, he reported.

The club president, Richard McDole, announced that state president of the Izaak-Walton League, F. Lee Keator, would be invited to address the next monthly meeting on Wednesday, April 26.

Sanders, Palmer Tied in Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Doug Sanders had the strongest finish — a 6-under-par 66 — but he had to share top spot with Arnold Palmer in the 36-hole, $10,000 Seminole Golf Tournament.

Palmer matched Sanders' two-day total of 138 by shooting a 67 on the last 18 holes Tuesday. They each netted $900, but Palmer picked up $800 more as he and an amateur teammate edged out the pro-amateur field in a simultaneous tournament.

Tom Nieporte, first-day leader with a 69, dropped into a five-way deadlock for third place and $500 prize money.

Palmer's amateur partner was Gay F. Kammer of Grosse Pointe, Mich. Their best ball score was 65-61-126.

WINS WITH PERFECT SCORE — Albert Hoffman of Stone Ridge with his Springer spaniel Miz Ohayo Belle earned a perfect score of 200 to win the highest scoring dog trophy in an obedience match show at Hudson Highlands Dog Training Club, Newburgh, recently. ## Smith Letter Hits Stocking Policy in Area

The following letter has been received from W. Floyd Smith, prominent Phoenicia nimrod who is regarded as one of the outstanding county experts in fish and game affairs:

"Here is some news for the sport fans of your paper.

Beginning April 1, the Stoney Clove Valley from the county line to the notch will be posted. They have waited for a fish truck for five years, but no fish came.

Mr. Gould of the Conservation Department says no fish above the county line. The same goes for many other small streams in the area. Some of them, along with the Clove stream, are our best.

The Stone Clove club did not want to post but they feel that they cannot fish every year enough to stand the pressure this section gets. So they raised the dues and posted the stream. Membership is still open for any of the local boys who want it.

This is only the beginning. More will follow if they aren't stocked.

It's time the area people wake up and do something about our fish stocking program.

W. FLOYD SMITH, Phoenicia.

Appellate Court Affirms Verdict

An appeal on behalf of Joseph C. Limoges, 50, Rhinebeck, who was convicted in February, 1960, of criminal negligence and drunken driving in connection with a fatal highway accident has been denied by the Supreme Court's Appellate Division.

Dutchess County District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta opposed the appeal which was filed by Edward J. Filipowicz attorney for Limoges.

County Judge John R. Schwartz sentenced Limoges to 11 months and 27 days in the county jail March 18, 1960 on the criminal negligence conviction and suspended sentence on the drunken driving charge.

Limoges was convicted on both charges arising from a collision Dec. 4, 1959 on Route 9G, Fairview, involving cars operated by Limoges and Mrs. Alice Delaney, 59, Town of Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Delaney's husband, Joseph, 62, was fatally injured in the crash.

Craig Verdict Due Later Today

The death Monday night of Harold Craig, 48, of Tillson, whose body was found beneath a car in a parking lot at the Bridge View Inn, Route 32, Rosendale, was still under investigation today.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle told The Freeman that he is awaiting the results of laboratory tests. An autopsy was ordered by the coroner following the discovery of Craig's body about 10:40 p. m. Monday beneath the car of Henry Samway, 50, of Astoria Hotel, Rosendale, a car salesman employed by Bob Nadler, Inc., of Kingston.

Craig died of extensive head and upper chest injuries. McCordle said he might have a verdict some time this afternoon.

Samway, who was at the inn to negotiate a car sale with Clarence Sutton, an employee of the inn, left the inn and walked to his parked car to return home. He said he noticed the car would not move properly. He returned to the inn, got a flashlight and discovered the body pinned beneath the car.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Dean Rusk narrowly escaped a "buzz bombing" today but an American security man attached to the secretary of state was the only casualty.

A large swarm of bees attacked just after Rusk ended a news conference at the office of Thailand's prime minister. The U.S. secretary and most of his aides had already left, but newsmen had to beat a hasty retreat.

Buffalo State Has to Forfeit Nine Cage Tilts

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo State Teachers College has forfeited the last nine of its varsity basketball games because of the scholastic ineligibility of one of its players.

Dr. Robert W. Mac Vittie, dean of the school, said Tuesday night that a recent check of records had revealed that Grover Freeland, a sophomore, was not eligible scholastically for inter-collegiate competition.

Freeland scored 38 points in 13 games and played in five of the last nine of which the Orange won four.

State compiled a 14-10 record for the campaign. In the forfeited period from Feb. 6, State played Buffalo, Roberts Wesleyan, Albany, Potsdam, Cortland, Oswego, Genesee, once and Brockport twice. Three of the final games were in the New York State Teachers College tournament at Cortland.

Mac Vittie said Freeland had been eligible during the first semester.

State's record now is 10-14.

Two Youngsters Meet In Senior Golf Play

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Mallie Reynolds of Dallas and John Jacob of Canton, Ohio—two "youngsters" in the Ponce de Leon senior Amateur Golf Tournament—meet in a quarterfinal match today that could produce the eventual champion.

Both are 36, just a year over the minimum for participation in the senior event, and both were two over par when they closed out opponents in second round matches Tuesday.

Reynolds defeated W. J. Kemble of Lockport, N.Y., 5 and 3. Jacob won over Leslie Taylor of Rutherfordton, N.C., 4 and 3.

The Indians finished 22 points in front of Hershey. Bill Sweeney won the scoring crown with 108 points and Marcel Paille was the No. 1 goalie with a 2.81 average. That's a combination that will be hard to beat.

Sweeney, incidentally, also led the playoff scorers last season with seven goals and seven assists for 14 points.

The second games will be played Saturday night. Cleveland will be at Springfield and Buffalo at Hershey. The survivors will meet in the best-of-7 final round.

Red Wings Have Edge Over Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings were only one game away from the final of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs today, while the defending champion Montreal Canadiens were all even in their semifinal with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Red Wings pulled into a 3-1 lead Tuesday night by blasting the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-1, in their semifinal in Detroit. Montreal, trailing 2-1 in games, cut down the Black Hawks, 3-2, in Chicago.

Detroit will try to sew up its spot in the final in the fifth game Saturday night in Toronto. The Canadiens — gunning for their sixth straight Stanley Cup — and the Black Hawks go at it again in Montreal, also on Saturday night.

Veteran Gordie Howe, who will celebrate his 33rd birthday Friday, spearheaded the Red Wings again — just as he did last Sunday — set up the tying goal and fired home the winner.

The Canadiens put on a dazzling display of speed that left the Black Hawks completely befuddled. The defending champions needed this one and they left no doubt in the roughhouse contest. Dickie Moore and Bob Hocke had two goals each and Phil Goyette had the other.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "We must sit with Rome first and work out our little differences," says His Eminence Metropolitan Archbishop Anthony Bashir, spiritual leader of some 110,000 Syrian Antiochian Orthodox faithful in the United States. Speaking here at a dinner in honor of his 25th year as national leader, the archbishop said of coming merger talks with the Roman Catholic Church: "I think Pope John XXIII was brought forth by God to bring unity to Christians." When that is achieved, the archbishop said he thinks it will be possible to meet with Protestants. He said he hopes mergers will unify the churches in principles, but that the traditions and rites of each will be preserved.

Money-Saving Tips for Late Income Tax Filers

Last-minute advice for last-minute tax return filers:

Choose the tax form best suited to your needs and you will save yourself considerable trouble. Form 1040A, the punch card, is the simplest to fill out. It is the one the Internal Revenue Service encourages taxpayers to use if possible because it simplifies checking and refunding. Use 1040A, however, only if your pretax income is less than $10,000, all of it from wages subject to withholding, plus not more than $200 in wages not subject to withholding, or for interest or dividend income. On this form you cannot itemize deductions. You must use the "optional tax table" and take the standard deduction.

Warning: If you use 1040A, you lose any credits against tax, as well as "head of household" or "surviving spouse" benefits.

A streamlined 1040 is form 1040W, available last year for the first time. You can use this form only if your income is from salary or wages—regardless of the amount—and not more than $200 is from dividends and interest and you have no other items of income. On this form you can itemize deductions, claim "sick pay" exclusion if you qualify.

Close to 60 per cent of all taxpayers last year continue to use the old 1040 form which covers all kinds of situations. This is the "long form" and can be used to include all types and amounts of income and allows for the listing of deductions. This is the form you'd use if your income derived from a business or farming, if you had capital gains or losses to report.

Tax savings can be yours if you study the rules so carefully that you avoid including nontaxable income, take advantage of legitimate deductions.

Among nontaxable items, cited by Commerce Clearing House, Inc., Chicago, newsgathering service on taxation and law, are: accident and health insurance benefit payments, damages recovered for personal injury or sickness, dividends on stock up to $50 a year per person, gifts, moving expenses paid by your present employer to transfer you and your family from one job to another, mustering out pay for servicemen, workmen's compensation and social security payments received under special statutes.

If you switched homes in 1960, don't forget, you need not report as income any gain made on the sale of your original home provided you've bought or will buy one costing the same or more within a year after or before the sale. You may deduct certain costs of "fixing up" the home you sold such as a fresh paint job, providing this was done within 90 days of the sale.

When it comes to itemized deductions, figures are available from the IRS telling the average actual deductions taken on returns in recent years.

If you can claim medical deductions for someone 65 or older, the IRS has a new form, number 2948, also intended for use by those over 65.

It is to be filled out in addition to the regular tax return and was designed because of the new law which gives a break to those supporting aged dependents. Under the new ruling you can deduct medical expenses for such dependents without first reducing them by 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Take care, whatever you do. The new electronic equipment the government is using allows it to keep an even closer check on the accuracy and honesty of your return.

"NEWSPAPERS HAVE BECOME OUR STRONG ADVERTISING ARM"

so says T. R. Lynn, Vice-President in charge of Sales, F. W. Woolworth Co.

More and more—nationally known advertisers are choosing the daily newspaper as their major advertising medium.

For the past few years, the F. W. Woolworth Company has been concentrating most of its advertising effort in the daily newspapers. "Newspapers have become our strong advertising arm, the muscle of which has grown from 400,000 lines in 1957 to upwards of 30,000,000 lines this year," recently said Mr. T. R. Lynn, vice-president in charge of sales. "We've come to respect the flexibility of newspapers, the timeliness of their news—not the least important of which, we like to feel, is the news of today's values at Woolworth's."

This evaluation can be echoed by many other prominent advertisers who have rediscovered the basic advantage of daily newspapers—that newspapers sell products. In today's market, advertisers need a medium that delivers maximum coverage and can be tailored to fit the advertiser's budget, deadline, selling and marketing requirements. That's why in 1960 advertisers invested more money in newspaper advertising than in radio, television, magazine and outdoor advertising combined!

Answer to Previous Puzzle*Test for College Students Seeking Deferment Slated

Dr. Robert K. Ploss, chairman of Local Draft Board 18, today urged college students to take the annual selective service college qualification test to be held April 27 at some 500 colleges in the nation.

Scores made in the tests, he said, are a help to local draft boards in considering students for deferment from induction for study as undergraduate or graduate students.

The test, he noted, "is for the student's benefit as well as for the nation's good. A high test score may compensate for low class standing, and high class standing may compensate for a low test score."

Some do not take the tests, he said, "because a student deferment extends a registrant's liability. Other deferments also extend liability to the age of 35, such as those for members of the ROTC for example, and no registrant can remain out of service beyond about 23 without an exemption, or a deferment which extends liability."

"The purpose of student deferments is to give promising students an opportunity to continue to prepare themselves for careers in support of the national interest."

Scientific and professional engineering organizations are urging students preparing for careers in those fields to take the test. These organizations recognize the need for advanced study. They also recognize that the undergraduate student who today does not plan on graduate study frequently realizes its importance as he nears graduation. That is the time when a deferment may be most important. That is also the time when a test score may be most important in the local board's decision concerning deferment.

Application materials for the test with full instructions are now available at the nearest local board office. Students are urged to file applications early. The application must be postmarked not later than midnight, April 6.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television programs are like March weather. They come in like lions, with lots of noise created by press agents and loud promises that each is going to be "new," "different," "off-beat," and—if it is a low-budget effort, "the sleeper of the year."

A few—a very few—make good their blustery entrance. Most stay around for awhile losing steam and audiences and finally disappear, more like ghosts than lambs.

The networks which trumpeted their new arrivals so enthusiastically, don't even mention the departures.

Latest program to slip away unnoticed is ABC's "Road to Reality," since mid-October a daytime serial aimed at the feminine audience but light years away from the conventional soap opera format. It has been a dramatic series about the problems of men and women undergoing group psychiatric therapy, based on real problems of real people.

"Road to Reality" picked up all sorts of kudos and endorsements along the way—from the U.S. Department of Public Health, from psychologists and psychiatrists, from mental health organizations.

In fact, it had everything except viewers—the housewives in important numbers were watching Art Linkletter's "Houseparty" and reruns of "The Loretta Young Show," on rival networks. So, with Friday's episode, "Road to Reality" folds its tents.

And roaring forth next Monday in its 2:30-3 p.m. (EST) time is still another audience participation game show. This is called "Seven Keys," involves identifying people, pictures or objects for prizes and has Jack Narz, once of "Dotto," as m.c.

Carole Cries, Finch Sleeps

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carole Tregoff cries in her cell and, in another part of the jail, her lover sleeps fitfully—a blanket pulled up over his head.

Neither Dr. R. Bernard Finch or Miss Tregoff, his co-defendant, is very hungry. Neither wants to be interviewed.

Both have missed several meals as they wait tensely for the final, life-or-death phase of their murder trial.

The couple, convicted of slaying the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, return to court Monday when—after another round of arguments by counsel—the murder trial jury will be asked to decide the penalties.

Under the verdict returned by the jury of 10 men and 2 women, Dr. Finch faces a possible death penalty on two counts—first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Two previous trials ended in jury deadlocks.

Miss Tregoff, convicted of second-degree murder, is subject to capital punishment on the conspiracy count of which she was also convicted. Second-degree murder carries a penalty of five years to life.

Meetings Similar Is Observation Of Soviet Writer

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP)—An American town meeting, a Soviet collective farm gathering—pretty much the same thing, says newsman Wladimir Ozerov of Moscow.

Ozerov, who represents the Soviet news agency Tass in New York, was one of 15 foreign newsmen who sat in on the North Kingstown town meeting Tuesday night.

"Everyone having a voice—that's the way it is with the collective farm," he said. "Every collective farm has its own budget, an estimate of what will be the harvest, what the farmers will get in wheat, money, it is all discussed at a general meeting."

"Decisions are then made by a popular vote, just as here," he said. About 500 taxpayers jammed in to the junior high school and approved a budget at a three-hour meeting spiced with some hot discussions and a few laughs.

A Czech and a Pole compared notes and decided it was much the same in their countries.

The newsmen, members of the Foreign Press Association, attended the meeting under the sponsorship of the World Affairs Council and the Providence Journal-Bulletin.

Jury in Corbett Murder Case Is Going Back Today

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—The jury in the Joseph Corbett Jr. murder trial resumes deliberations today after 10 hours of discussion failed to produce a verdict.

The jury is considering only two possible verdicts—acquittal or conviction of first-degree murder with a mandatory sentence of life in prison.

Corbett, 32, is accused of murdering Adolph Coors III Feb. 9, 1960 in an abortive kidnap attempt. The prosecution claimed he schemed for two years to abduct the wealthy head of the Adolph Coors Co. brewery and ransom him for a half-million dollars.

Corbett retired early in his cell in Jefferson County jail. Officers said he read a book after dinner and appeared little concerned.

A hold order from California authorities awaits the tall, slender defendant in the event he is acquitted here.

He escaped from a prison at Chino, Calif., in 1955, four years after he was convicted and sentenced to a 5-year to life term for the slaying of an Air Force sergeant.

End Wild Prom Nights, Advice Given Parents

CHICAGO (AP)—Parents should summon up their courage and initiative and halt the growing custom of wild, all-night high school prom and graduation sprees, says an authority on education.

"It's high time we got back to some untroubled sleep on prom and graduation nights the country over," said Paul Friggens, visiting lecturer at the University of Colorado.

"And we shouldn't have to buy it by bargaining with our sons and daughters," he added.

Former Official Gives Testimony At Police Trial

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—A former Utica official says two policemen, on trial on charges of conspiracy and perjury involving the alleged protection of prostitution, told him they knew about a brothel operation.

Joseph N. Sullivan, former public safety commissioner, testified Tuesday the two told him in 1954 that a brothel was operating at 616 Broadway in Utica, the home of convicted brothel-keeper Irene Burke.

He identified the policemen as Capt. Robert Bogan and Detective Frank Macner. Both are under suspension.

Two other suspended policemen, Detectives Pasquale Fragetta and Leonard Custodero, and two former Utica officials also face the same charges.

The State Supreme Court trial, in its 11th week, continued for the four suspended policemen after the defense rested its case for Dennis P. O'Dowd, former general manager of the city Water Board, and Vincent D. Fiore, former deputy police chief.

However, Paul Shanahan, attorney for O'Dowd, left the way open to resume his case.

Shanahan, who called no witnesses, said he had "no other evidence to offer at this time."

The defense began its presentation Monday.

A temperature of more than 4,400 degrees Fahrenheit is required to melt the precious metal ruthenium.

Cleared of Murder

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Esther Delaney, 53, cleared in the fatal shooting of her husband, says she plans to seek reinstatement in her job as a Civil Service secretary at Patrick Air Force Base.

A grand jury declined Monday to indict Mrs. Delaney. She had told a sheriff she shot her husband in self-defense in October 1959. The body had been stored in the family garage for 17 months.

Mrs. Delaney, of nearby Indian River, gave up her job after her arrest earlier this month.

Jury Probe Clears Update Prosecutor

DELHI, N.Y. (AP)—A district attorney has won his fight over a deer the State Conservation Department contended he shot illegally.

A grand jury declined Tuesday to indict Dist. Atty. Richard H. Farley of Delaware County.

Farley, who had asked Gov. Rockefeller to order the grand jury investigation, had refused to enter into a civil compromise with the conservation department.

The district attorney, in requesting the probe, said no formal charges had been filed against him in any court. He said he shot a buck "on my own deer license" last Dec. 5, about 10 days after putting "a finishing shot into a wounded spike-horned deer, which had been poached on private land by other parties."

The conservation department alleged the second deer was illegal because a hunter is limited to one deer.

Clare J. Hoyt of Walden, a former Orange County district attorney, was named to supersede Farley for the probe.

The jury delivered its decision to State Supreme Court Justice John F. Dwyer of Buffalo after hearing a dozen witnesses.

Search for Boy

GILBERTSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Firemen resumed a search today for a 4-year-old boy feared drowned in swollen Butternut Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Meers reported their son missing Tuesday.

The creek flows near their home in this Otsego County community.
